Move Violates Italian Treaty, Moscow Says

Tito Asks 4-Power Talks, Notifies U. N. Peace Threat Exists

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) — The United States gave notice today it will refuse to change its decision to turn over part of disputed Trieste to Italy despite bitter protests by Yugoslavia.

Shortly after that was made clear, Russia jumped into the controversy, accusing the United States and Britain of a "grave violation" of the Italian peace treaty in deciding to transfer their occupied zone of Trieste to Italy.

In notes delivered to the American and British embassies in Moscow, the Russians said the two Allied countries had consistently violated arrangements regarding Trieste in the U. N. Security Council.

There was no immediate reaction to the Russian note from the State Department.

A department spokesman earlier had declared there would be no backing down after Yugoslavia's foreign secretary, Koca Popovic, conferred with Secretary of State Dulles to renew his government's opposition to the move.

Popovic, who flew from New York for the meeting, presumably relayed Yugoslav President Tito's threat to send troops into the Allied-occupied zone of Trieste "at the moment" Italian forces take over the area.

The Yugoslav foreign secretary, under questioning by reporters, said his talk with Dulles was "fruitful" and he would return for another conference tomorrow.

"The situation is really grave," Popovic declared. "But I am firmly hoping with our common efforts we can improve the situation."

Yugoslavia Asks 4-Power Talks On Trieste Issue

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 12 (AP) — Yugoslavia called urgently today for direct talks with the United States, Britain and Italy on the Balkan powder-keg issue of Trieste and notified the United Nations a threat to peace exists in that strategic North Adriatic peninsula.

These rapid-fire moves took place in the capital today as angry Belgrade mobs—whipped up by the storm of official Yugoslav protests over the American-British decision to turn their zone of Trieste over to Italy—slugged the director of the U. S. Information Service and burned British library papers and pictures in the street.

President Tito's tough, independent Communist government warned in notes to the three Western states that carrying out the decision to hand U. S.-British-occupied Zone A—including the vital seaport city of Trieste—to the Italians was "likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security."

(In Moscow, Russia accused the United States and Britain of a "grave violation" of the Italian Peace Treaty in their decision to turn Zone A over to Italy. The accusation was made in notes delivered to the American and British Embassies. They charged that the United States and Britain had consistently violated arrangements regarding Trieste in the United Nations Security Council.)

Tito already has pushed heavy troop reinforcements into Yugoslav Zone B of the free territory and threatened to march them on into Zone A "the moment Italian troops enter."

President Ike's Birthday Scene

This is the entrance to the huge circus tent at Hershey, Pa., in which more than 6,000 persons will sit down to a $100-a-plate dinner tonight in honor of President Eisenhower's 63rd birthday. The "welcome sign" went up yesterday as preparations for the party neared completion.

Peace Conference Parley Oct. 26 Suggested By U.N.

Would Meet Reds At Panmunjom To Set Date And Site

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The United States and its 16 Korean War Allies tonight offered to meet with Communist representatives at Panmunjom Oct. 26 to agree on a time and place for a Korean peace conference.

A formal note to the Chinese Communist government said the representatives would discuss the makeup of the peace conference only "to the extent consistent" with a U. N. Assembly decision barring neutrals.

The U. N.'s stand appeared to rule out Communist demands that India, Indonesia, Burma, Pakistan and Russia be given seats at the conference table as "neutrals."

The note said:

"The United States, after consultations with the other governments participating on our side, has authorized its representatives to agree on a time and place for a conference and to exchange views looking toward early agreement on procedural, administrative and related questions as to arrangements which it might be appropriate to discuss before the conference begins.

"Our representatives, therefore, will be prepared to deal with such questions and will also be prepared to exchange views on composition of the political conference to the extent consistent with the basis above set forth in the preceding paragraphs."

In the "preceding paragraphs" of its message, transmitted through the Swedish government, the U. N. side recalled that paragraph 60 of the armistice agreement limited conference roles to "the governments concerned on both sides."

The message recalled that it was the Communists themselves who insisted upon this type of conference, and, in effect, accused the Reds of lying when they claim they favored including neutral nations all along.

High Court Will Rule On Radio-TV Giveaway Shows

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court, holding its first full day of business in the new term, today agreed to rule on the government's effort to ban radio and television giveaway shows.

But the high tribunal refused to decide whether cities may prohibit movies or other entertainment on Sundays, while church services are being held.

The two rulings were among nearly 300 orders handed down by the court.

Warren Takes No Part

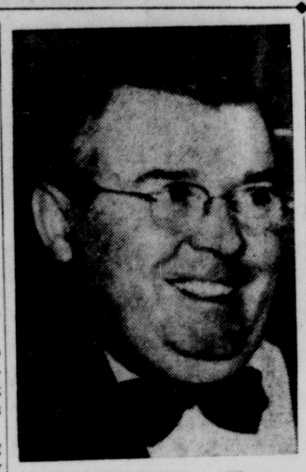

Chief Justice Warren, sworn in last Monday to succeed the late Fred M. Vinson, noted that he took no part in the actions because they were argued before he took office. The former California governor remained silent during today's decision session except for the routine of admitting attorneys to the Supreme Court bar.

The question of prohibiting radio and TV giveaway programs was brought to the court by the Federal Communications Commission. It seeks reversal of a decision by a special three-judge Federal Court in New York that limited an FCC ban on such shows to programs where contestants are required to furnish money or anything of value, or possess a sponsor's product.

Networks Opposed Review

The special court ruled that the FCC could not forbid programs in which contestants are required directly or indirectly to listen to special broadcasts. The FCC argued that time and effort given by listeners to the giveaway programs constituted something of value comparable to money. It called the programs lotteries, which are forbidden by federal law.

Three networks—NBC, CBS and ABC — have opposed a Supreme Court review. They argued that the appeal was filed by the FCC under an interpretation of the lottery law that the attorney general had refused to support and which Congress did not put into the law.

McCarthy Hints Espionage Ring In Radar Center

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today his new probe has turned up indications of "extremely dangerous espionage" at the Ft. Monmouth, N. J., Signal Corps radar center and possibly throughout the Signal Corps.

He said that testimony before his Senate permanent investigations subcommittee "has all the earmarks that extremely dangerous espionage" has been committed recently at Ft. Monmouth.

McCarthy added without elaboration:

"If it develops as it has been it will envelop the whole Signal Corps."

In Washington, Defense Department and Army spokesmen said they had no comment on McCarthy's statements, made after his subcommittee had heard secret testimony by five witnesses.

All the witnesses were former or present civilian employes at the Signal Corps' radar laboratories at Ft. Monmouth. Several employes there recently were suspended on security grounds.

While McCarthy did not give further details of testimony which he said indicated recent espionage, he described in detail the questioning of an unidentified witness who quit Ft. Monmouth in 1948.

McCarthy said the man went from there to the Air Force, but was suspended the same year by the Air Force for security reasons.

The witness, the senator said, declined on constitutional grounds to answer a series of questions: whether he was guilty of espionage; whether he had been associated with executed atom spy Julius Rosenberg or Morton Sobell, now in jail for espionage; whether he ever gave secret information to Rosenberg or Sobell; whether he ever gave radar information to the Communist party and whether he was a Communist "as of now."

Supreme Court Refuses Korean Conflict Ruling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review a decision that the Korean conflict was not a war in the legal sense.

The decision was given by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in two cases affecting private insurance policies that did not provide for full payment if death occurred in military service in time of war.

Since then a U. S. District Court judge in Los Angeles and the U. S. Court of Military Appeals here decided the action in Korea was a war. Only the Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision has been appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court so far.

Irate Farmers Block Highways In France

LIMOGES, France, Oct. 12 (AP)—Thousands of farmers in southwestern France, angered by the government's failure to bolster prices for their products, today manned hundreds of highway barricades and stopped highway traffic cold.

The demonstration ended at sundown.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Air Force announced today that the Fairchild Airplane and Engine Corp. of Hagerstown, Md. was the successful bidder for a contract to build an undisclosed number of assault transport aircraft, C-123.

Hall, Woman Confess They Plotted Death

Trial At Kansas City Expected As Federal Charges Are Filed

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12 (AP) — Carl Austin Hall, a sullen drug addict, and his unkempt woman friend confessed today they prepared to kill Bobby Greenlease before they kidnaped the 6-year-old child.

Hall admitted to the FBI he killed the boy by firing a pistol bullet into the right side of his head after driving him across the Missouri-Kansas State line from Kansas City a short time after Bobby's kidnaping.

Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old alcoholic, confessed she was with Hall when he killed the boy, son of multi-millionaire parents who paid a record $600,000 in ransom.

With the couple's signed confessions that the child was taken across a state line, the government immediately filed charges at Kansas City under the Lindbergh kidnaping law.

The confessions today cleared Thomas John Marsh, 37, tattooed ex-convict named earlier by Hall as the actual killer of Bobby, of any part in the crime.

Woman's Earlier Claim Erased

The admissions also wiped out the Heady woman's earlier claim she was merely an innocent pawn in the case when she led the unsuspecting child from an exclusive Catholic school Sept. 28 on the pretext she was his aunt. She insisted she thought the boy was Hall's son, in custody of an ex-wife.

The 34-year-old Hall, ne'er-do-well son of a respected Kansas family, and his partner in the crime that has shocked the nation, were expected to go to trial on the kidnaping charge before a federal court jury in Kansas City.

The Lindbergh law, which stemmed from the kidnap-slaying of the famous aviator's son 21 years ago, carries a possible death penalty when the kidnap victim is harmed.

State charges of both kidnaping and murder are pending against the kidnap-killers. But in Washington the Justice Department indicated the federal trial in Kansas City would be held first.

Lime Bought Before Kidnaping

The boy's body, decomposing under a layer of lime which Hall admitted buying before the kidnaping, was unearthed in the back yard of Mrs. Heady's home in St. Joseph, Mo., Wednesday soon after the arrest of the couple here.

The FBI said Hall and Mrs. Heady confessed they dug the grave before they put their kidnap plot into execution.

One phase of the case still unsolved is what happened to some $300,000 of missing ransom money. More than $295,000 of the money, in $10 and $20 bills, was in the apartment-hotel room where Hall was seized.

Hall has maintained he was drunk and under the influence of morphine after his arrival here and that he must have lost a suitcase full of money.

Actor Critically Ill

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 12 (AP)—Broadway and Hollywood actor Millard Mitchell is critically ill and in a coma at St. John's hospital, his agency said today.

Music Corporation of America, the agency, said he is not expected to live. Nature of his illness was not disclosed.

Reds Set For Struggle To Win Back Prisoners

PANMUNJOM, Tuesday, Oct. 13 (AP) — The Communists gave notice yesterday they are ready to begin this week an all-out struggle to win back 22,500 anti-Communist Chinese and North Korean prisoners.

The psychological war will be waged inside the demilitarized zone under supervision of the five-nation repatriation commission, headed by India.

It may touch off violent repercussions from prisoners who have vowed they would not be interviewed and have flung rocks and curses at Red officials.

Peiping radio said Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, head of the Communist military armistice delegation, had informed the commission that Red persuasion teams were ready to start tomorrow or Thursday on explanations of repatriation rights to prisoners.

The United Nations command has completed a temporary "explanation center" of 20 tents but the Reds refused to go ahead until 12 more tents are put up tomorrow or the next day.

It was understood the Communists wanted to conduct 32 "explanations" at a time in an effort to coax back a maximum number of prisoners who have renounced communism.

Democrat Named

Cleveland Mayor Will Succeed Taft

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 12 (AP)—Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche today appointed Thomas A. Burke, Democratic mayor of Cleveland, to the Senate post left vacant by the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft. Naming the Cleveland Democrat left the Senate with 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans, one Independent.

The appointment gives the deciding vote to Vice-President Richard M. Nixon should a Senate vote result in a deadlock.

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon was elected on the Republican ticket but later bolted the party. Morse said after Taft's death last July 31 he would vote Republican on any organization matters which might arise.

Lausche, a Democrat, telephoned his announcement to his Columbus office while enroute to Cleveland to attend Columbus Day ceremonies. Lausche's personal secretary released a statement in which Lausche said:

"I anticipate that he (Burke) will take no action upsetting the present organization of the Senate and that he will constantly have in mind the interests and welfare of all the people."

Lausche's appointment of the Cleveland Democrat followed closely on the heels of action in the Ohio Supreme Court to compel the governor to name someone to succeed Taft, who died last summer of cancer.

Greek Air, Navy Bases Available To U. S. Forces

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 12 (AP) — The United States and Greece forged a new link in the NATO defense system today with the signing of an agreement here authorizing the Americans to use an undisclosed number of Greek air and naval bases.

The agreement was signed by U. S. Ambassador Cavendish Cannon and Greek Foreign Minister Stephen Stephanopoulos. The signing also was announced in Washington by U. S. State Department officials, who said it was an executive understanding not requiring approval by the Senate.

The Greek government reportedly plans to ask Parliament to approve it even though it goes into effect immediately on today's signing.

Premier Alexander Papagos issued a statement saying that Western defense in general "and in this critical area of the earth particularly, is stengthened, and in this way NATO's mission succeeds in a more positive way."

The State Department said the naval bases will be available to other NATO countries as well as the United States. American personnel in "small numbers," mainly specialists and technicians, will be sent to Greece under the pact, Washington said.

The agreement is similar to those signed by the United States with Denmark for use of facilities on Greenland, with Portugal covering the Azores, and with Iceland for the use of an airfield at Keflavik.

Last month the United States signed an agreement with Spain for the use of Spanish air and naval bases. This pact differs from the others in that it is a strictly American-Spanish arrangement having no formal connection with NATO, to which Spain does not belong.

MIG Pilot Who Deserted Reds Changes Story

SEOUL, Tuesday, Oct. 13 (AP)—A North Korean MIG pilot who made a spectacular $100,000 flight to freedom last month said yesterday the Reds formed three all-jet air divisions in North Korea consisting of more than 150 fighters and bombers just before the armistice became effective.

However, Lt. Noh Kum Suk said in a press conference that he had not seen Red warplanes cross the Manchurian border after the truce became effective July 27. This contradicted his statements in an earlier press conference.

Noh said the Reds had 150 crated MIGs on the flatcars at Antung ready to roll into North Korea at a moment's notice on the last day of the war. He saw 10 of them ready at 4 a.m. July 27 — 18 hours before the truce froze military buildups at their existing level.

New York Torso Slayer Captured

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — A 34-year-old Chinese restaurant worker has admitted the torso slaying of Kay Gibson, street walker and dope addict whose carved up body was found in a suitcase yesterday, Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan announced tonight.

Monaghan identified the man as James Lew and said the slaying stemmed from Lew's jealousy in a triangle love situation.

Yanks Building New Korea Defense Line

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah said today a new defense line is being built by U. S. forces in Korea because of the possibility of renewed fighting.

Describing the work as a "tremendous job" Hannah said "it involves a complete new line of fortification, bunkers, observation posts, artillery positions and so on."

"The next 60 to 90 days everybody will be busy," he added.

Dallas Police Quiz Negro Suspect In Sexual Attacks

DALLAS, Oct. 12 (AP)—A naked Negro arrested near the scene of recent rapes couldn't provide an alibi today for the time during which a pretty young dime store clerk was ravished and slashed to death, police said.

But another victim of a sexual attack looked the man over and said he wasn't the one who raped her three times and beat her in north Dallas' Reverchon Park the night of Aug. 31.

Several rapes and attempted rapes and the slaying of Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29, the night of Sept. 30 have given Dallas the jitters in recent weeks. Many residents have posted guns at handy places in their homes and kept their lights burning at night.

Nude and protesting "I didn't kill that woman," the suspect was captured in a vacant lot in north Dallas early today by two other Negroes.

They said they saw him standing under a tree as they walked past, wrestled him to the ground and stood guard over him until officers arrived. His clothes were neatly stacked nearby.

No charges had been filed against him late today.

Homicide Capt. Will Fritz tried to question the man but said he was too drunk to talk much at first. Intensive questioning began later in the day.

When Fritz asked if the man could account for his whereabouts at the time of the slaying, he replied, "No, sir."

Fritz identified the man as Curtis Coleman, 29, who has a record of petty theft and burglary convictions over an eight-year period.

Implicates Mysterious "Other Man"

Accused Turnpike Terrorist Captured But Denies Slayings

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 12 (AP)—An accused terrorist of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, captured after a breakneck police chase, today steadfastly maintained his innocence and implicated a mysterious "other man."

New Mexico state police late yesterday arrested John Wesley Wable, 24, charged with a double murder on the turnpike, on a tip from two petite young women playing cops and robbers to kill time.

Identified because of a watch he pawned, taken from one of the turnpike victims, Wable is charged with the fatal shooting of Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va. and Lester B. Woodward, 39, Harrisburg, Pa. last July.

"I didn't kill nobody," the shivering, nude Wable told officers here. He was stripped when he threatened to commit suicide, but later his clothes were returned.

"But I think I know who did. And I've got friends who will take care of him."

Undersheriff Walter Geis said the slender Wable admitted once owning a foreign make gun identified as the death weapon but maintained he gave it to a man he met on the streets in Cleveland. It was the same man, Wable contended, from whom he purchased a watch taken from Shepard and which he later pawned.

Geis said he was withholding the name of the man Wable is accusing.

For those involved in Wable's capture, it meant both trouble and a possibility of unexpected good fortune.

The chase started when two men held up an Albuquerque service station.

State police threw up roadblocks, but the car driven by Wable sped through it. State police pursued the fleeing car at speeds up to 96 miles per hour, but were unable to catch up.

Snarled in evening movie traffic, Wable abandoned the car on the outskirts of Belen and struck out on foot.

The possible windfall goes to Carolyn Smith, 23, a nurse and Midge Harmon, 20, railway bill clerk.

Enjoying a quiet late Sunday drive, they met a state patrolman who told them a search was on for a robber and gave them the description.

They figured the fugitive might be near the Santa Fe Railway tracks. They spotted him on a little-traveled road, turned around to make sure, then went for officers.

They are expected to share reward money totaling $11,000 offered by the Pennsylvania trucking industry.

U. S. Makes Money Every Time New Stamp Is Issued

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) — A new postage stamp goes on sale in Kansas City tomorrow, thereby giving the government another chance to pick up some loose change.

Most government projects are devoted to spending, not making, money. So it's nice to know that on commemorative postage stamps at least, the Post Office Department does okay.

It does okay because there are 12 million stamp collectors in this country, each redhot to get every stamp put out by the U. S. Post Office Department.

Collectors have become so important that Postmaster General Summerfield has set up a special division of philately. It's headed by Robert Fellers, 40 years a post office employe and, naturally, something of a collecting redhot himself.

Although the division is new, Fellers pointed out that the department has had a calculating eye on stamp lovers since 1921. That's when it announced that anyone having trouble getting a special stamp could write directly to the department for it.

The P. O. people sold $30,000 worth of stamps this way the first year. Since then the demand has gone as high as 4 million dollars a year.

And all this is in addition to stamps bought for mailing things.

"Nobody knows how much we make off stamp collectors," Fellers said, "But it runs into millions. Look at it this way: It costs us 30 cents a thousand to make three-cent stamps. We sell them for $30."

Tomorrow's stamp, for example, honors the Future Farmers of America. It goes on sale in Kansas City because that's where the Future Farmers hold their annual conventions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The United States and its 16 Korean War Allies tonight offered to meet with Communist representatives at Panmunjom Oct. 26 to agree on a time and place for a Korean peace conference.

A formal note to the Chinese Communist government said the representatives would discuss the makeup of the peace conference only "to the extent consistent" with a U. N. Assembly decision barring neutrals.

High Court Will Rule On Radio-TV Giveaway Shows

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court, holding its first full day of business in the new term, today agreed to rule on the government's effort to ban radio and television giveaway shows.

But the high tribunal refused to decide whether cities may prohibit movies or other entertainment on Sundays, while church services are being held.

The two rulings were among nearly 300 orders handed down by the court.

Woman's Earlier Claim Erased

The admissions also wiped out the Heady woman's earlier claim she was merely an innocent pawn in the case when she led the unsuspecting child from an exclusive Catholic school Sept. 28 on the pretext she was his aunt. She insisted she thought the boy was Hall's son, in custody of an ex-wife.

The 34-year-old Hall, ne'er-do-well son of a respected Kansas family, and his partner in the crime that has shocked the nation, were expected to go to trial on the kidnaping charge before a federal court jury in Kansas City.

The Lindbergh law, which stemmed from the kidnap-slaying of the famous aviator's son 21 years ago, carries a possible death penalty when the kidnap victim is harmed.

State charges of both kidnaping and murder are pending against the kidnap-killers. But in Washington the Justice Department indicated the federal trial in Kansas City would be held first.

Lime Bought Before Kidnaping

The boy's body, decomposing under a layer of lime which Hall admitted buying before the kidnaping, was unearthed in the back yard of Mrs. Heady's home in St. Joseph, Mo., Wednesday soon after the arrest of the couple here .

The FBI said Hall and Mrs. Heady confessed they dug the grave before they put their kidnap plot into execution.

One phase of the case still unsolved is what happened to some $300,000 of missing ransom money. More than $295,000 of the money, in $10 and $20 bills, was in the apartment-hotel room where Hall was seized.

Hall has maintained he was drunk and under the influence of morphine after his arrival here and that he must have lost a suitcase full of money.

Actor Critically Ill

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 12 (AP)—Broadway and Hollywood actor Millard Mitchell is critically ill and in a coma at St. John's hospital, his agency said today.

Music Corporation of America, the agency, said he is not expected to live. Nature of his illness was not disclosed.

Cleveland Mayor Will Succeed Taft

The appointment gives the deciding vote to Vice-President Richard M. Nixon should a Senate vote result in a deadlock.

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon was elected on the Republican ticket but later bolted the party. Morse said after Taft's death last July 31 he would vote Republican on any organization matters which might arise.

Lausche, a Democrat, telephoned his announcement to his Columbus office while enroute to Cleveland to attend Columbus Day ceremonies. Lausche's personal secretary released a statement in which Lausche said:

"I anticipate that he (Burke) will take no action upsetting the present organization of the Senate and that he will constantly have in mind the interests and welfare of all the people."

Lausche's appointment of the Cleveland Democrat followed closely on the heels of action in the Ohio Supreme Court to compel the governor to name someone to succeed Taft, who died last summer of cancer.

MIG Pilot Who Deserted Reds Changes Story

SEOUL, Tuesday, Oct. 13 (AP)—A North Korean MIG pilot who made a spectacular $100,000 flight to freedom last month said yesterday the Reds formed three all-jet air divisions in North Korea consisting of more than 150 fighters and bombers just before the armistice became effective.

However, Lt. Noh Kum Suk said in a press conference that he had not seen Red warplanes cross the Manchurian border after the truce became effective July 27. This contradicted his statements in an earlier press conference.

Noh said the Reds had 150 crated MIGs on the flatcars at Antung ready to roll into North Korea at a moment's notice on the last day of the war. He saw 10 of them ready at 4 a.m. July 27 — 18 hours be e the truce froze military buildups at their existing level.

New York Torso Slayer Captured

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — A 34-year-old Chinese restaurant worker has admitted the torso slaying of Kay Gibson, street walker and dope addict whose carved up body was found in a suitcase yesterday, Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan announced tonight.

Monaghan identified the man as James Lew and said the slaying stemmed from Lew's jealousy in a triangle love situation.

Yanks Building New Korea Defense Line

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah said today a new defense line is being built by U. S. forces in Korea because of the possibility of renewed fighting.

Describing the work as a "tremendous job" Hannah said "it involves a complete new line of fortification, bunkers, observation posts, artillery positions and so on."

"The next 60 to 90 days everybody will be busy," he added.

Greek Air, Navy Bases Available To U. S. Forces

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 12 (AP) — The United States and Greece forged a new link in the NATO defense system today with the signing of an agreement here authorizing the Americans to use an undisclosed number of Greek air and naval bases.

The agreement was signed by U. S. Ambassador Cavendish Cannon and Greek Foreign Minister Stephen Stephanopoulos. The signing also was announced in Washington by U. S. State Department officials, who said it was an executive understanding not requiring approval by the Senate.

The Greek government reportedly plans to ask Parliament to approve it even though it goes into effect immediately on today's signing.

Premier Alexander Papagos issued a statement saying that Western defense in general "and in this critical area of the earth particularly, is stengthened, and in this way NATO's mission succeeds in a more positive way."

The State Department said the naval bases will be available to other NATO countries as well as the United States. American personnel in "small numbers," mainly specialists and technicians, will be sent to Greece under the pact, Washington said.

The agreement is similar to those signed by the United States with Denmark for use of facilities on Greenland, with Portugal covering the Azores, and with Iceland for the use of an airfield at Keflavik.

Last month the United States signed an agreement with Spain for the use of Spanish air and naval bases. This pact differs from the others in that it is a strictly American-Spanish arrangement having no formal connection with NATO, to which Spain does not belong.

Irate Farmers Block Highways In France

LIMOGES, France, Oct. 12 (AP)—Thousands of farmers in southwestern France, angered by the government's failure to bolster prices for their products, today manned hundreds of highway barricades and stopped highway traffic cold.

The demonstration ended at sundown.

Dallas Police Quiz Negro Suspect In Sexual Attacks

DALLAS, Oct. 12 (AP)—A naked Negro arrested near the scene of recent rapes couldn't provide an alibi today for the time during which a pretty young dime store clerk was ravished and slashed to death, police said.

But another victim of a sexual attack looked the man over and said he wasn't the one who raped her three times and beat her in north Dallas' Reverchon Park the night of Aug. 31.

Several rapes and attempted rapes and the slaying of Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29, the night of Sept. 30 have given Dallas the jitters in recent weeks. Many residents have posted guns at handy places in their homes and kept their lights burning at night.

Nude and protesting "I didn't kill that woman," the suspect was captured in a vacant lot in north Dallas early today by two other Negroes.

They said they saw him standing under a tree as they walked past, wrestled him to the ground and stood guard over him until officers arrived. His clothes were neatly stacked nearby.

No charges had been filed against him late today.

Homicide Capt. Will Fritz tried to question the man but said he was too drunk to talk much at first. Intensive questioning began later in the day.

When Fritz asked if the man could account for his whereabouts at the time of the slaying, he replied, "No, sir."

Fritz identified the man as Curtis Coleman, 29, who has a record of petty theft and burglary convictions over an eight-year period.

Implicates Mysterious "Other Man"

Accused Turnpike Terrorist Captured But Denies Slayings

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 12 (AP)—An accused terrorist of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, captured after a breakneck police chase, today steadfastly maintained his innocence and implicated a mysterious "other man."

New Mexico state police late yesterday arrested John Wesley Wable, 24, charged with a double murder on the turnpike, on a tip from two petite young women playing cops and robbers to kill time.

Identified because of a watch he pawned, taken from one of the turnpike victims, Wable is charged with the fatal shooting of Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va. and Lester B. Woodward, 39, Harrisburg, Pa. last July.

"I didn't kill nobody," the shivering, nude Wable told officers here. He was stripped when he threatened to commit suicide, but later his clothes were returned.

"But I think I know who did. And I've got friends who will take care of him."

Undersheriff Walter Geis said the slender Wable admitted once owning a foreign make gun identified as the death weapon but maintained he gave it to a man he met on the streets in Cleveland. It was the same man, Wable contended, from whom he purchased a watch taken from Shepard and which he later pawned.

Geis said he was withholding the name of the man Wable is accusing.

For those involved in Wable's capture, it meant both trouble and a possibility of unexpected good fortune.

The chase started when two men held up an Albuquerque service station.

State police threw up roadblocks, but the car driven by Wable sped through it. State police pursued the fleeing car at speeds up to 96 miles per hour, but were unable to catch up.

Snarled in evening movie traffic, Wable abandoned the car on the outskirts of Belen and struck out on foot.

The possible windfall goes to Carolyn Smith, 23, a nurse and Midge Harmon, 20, railway bill clerk.

Enjoying a quiet late Sunday drive, they met a state patrolman who told them a search was on for a robber and gave them the description.

They figured the fugitive might be near the Santa Fe Railway tracks. They spotted him on a little-traveled road, turned around to make sure, then went for officers.

They are expected to share reward money totaling $11,000 offered by the Pennsylvania trucking industry.

U. S. Makes Money Every Time New Stamp Is Issued

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) — A new postage stamp goes on sale in Kansas City tomorrow, thereby giving the government another chance to pick up some loose change.

Most government projects are devoted to spending, not making, money. So it's nice to know that on commemorative postage stamps at least, the Post Office Department does okay.

It does okay because there are 12 million stamp collectors in this country, each redhot to get every stamp put out by the U. S. Post Office Department.

Collectors have become so important that Postmaster General Summerfield has set up a special division of philately. It's headed by Robert Fellers, 40 years a post office employe and, naturally, something of a collecting redhot himself.

Although the division is new, Fellers pointed out that the department has had a calculating eye on stamp lovers since 1921. That's when it announced that anyone having trouble getting a special stamp could write directly to the department for it.

The P. O. people sold $30,000 worth of stamps this way the first year. Since then the demand has gone as high as 4 million dollars a year.

And all this is in addition to stamps bought for mailing things.

"Nobody knows how much we make off stamp collectors," Fellers said. "But it runs into millions. Look at it this way: It costs us 30 cents a thousand to make three-cent stamps. We sell them for $30."

Tomorrow's stamp, for example, honors the Future Farmers of America. It goes on sale in Kansas City because that's where the Future Farmers hold their annual conventions.

Leftist-Called Strike Hits Guiana's Sugar Industry

Cane Field Burned, Some Mills Close

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Oct. 12 (AP)—A general strike, called by leftist government ministers kicked out by London as pro-Moscow plotters, spread slowly today through this British crown colony's basic sugar industry.

Three minor incidents of violence were reported, including the stoning of the house of a cane worker who refused to strike, the burning of 13 acres of sugar cane, and an attempted attack by angry workers on a plantation overseer.

Two Mills Closed

The walkout paralyzed two of the colony's 14 sugar factories and threatened to close down more mills tomorrow, since about 40 per cent of the cane workers have already quit work.

The strike was part of an anti-British campaign of boycott, non-cooperation and non-fraternization launched yesterday by ousted ministers belonging to the leftist People's Progressive Party (PPP).

The campaign was in retaliation for British action last week suspending the colony's new constitution and removing leftist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and five of his ministers on the charge they planned to turn British Guiana into a Communist state allied with Moscow.

Troops Back Governor

London held its hand until 600 British troops and three warships arrived in Georgetown to back up colonial Gov. Sir Alfred Savage.

Since today was the Pan-American Day holiday on the anniversary of Columbus' discovery of America, full effect of the strike could not be judged immediately.

After the burning of the field of sugar cane, an angry crowd of workers attempted to attack an overseer, who escaped on horseback. Cane cutting was resumed in the area, however, after the flareup.

WHERE KIDNAPED BOY SLAIN—Arthur Brulez (right), who operates a farm south and west of Overland Park, Kan., talks with a reporter at the slaying scene after FBI agents disclosed yesterday that six-year-old Bobby Greenlease was shot to death along a hedgerow on his farm. Agents were digging for the bullet Carl Austin Hall, a drug addict, admitted firing into the right side of the kidnaped boys' head.

Brooklyn Newspaper Sale Falls Through

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — The Brooklyn Eagle notified its employes today that a deal for sale of the daily newspaper to the New York Herald Tribune has fallen through.

"The proposal for the purchase of this newspaper came from the Herald Tribune," Brooklyn Eagle publisher Frank D. Schroth said in a bulletin board notice to employes.

"It was entirely their idea. After three months, full agreement had been reached. In the final analysis, however, the Herald Tribune could not withstand the resistance of the unions."

High Court To Review Md. Sales Tax Issue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) — Charles E. Nelson and 10 others once convicted of gambling charges apparently will get a new trial. The Supreme Court today let stand a U. S. Court of Appeals reversal of their conviction.

In orders on two other Washington-Maryland-Virginia area cases, the high tribunal:

1. Agreed to review a decision that Maryland may make out-of-state merchants liable for collection of a two per cent use tax on goods sold to Maryland customers.
2. Agreed to review a decision affecting milk prices in northern Virginia.

Russia Proposes New UN Membership Deal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP) — Russia today came up with a new package plan under which she would support the admission of Italy and Finland to the U. N. if three Soviet satellites —Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria —also were admitted.

The surprise proposal was made by Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik in the General Assembly's 60-nation Special Political Committee which is seeking to break the log jam on the admission of new members.

Ailing Prime Minister Of Ceylon Steps Down

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Oct. 12 (AP)—Crisis-plagued Ceylon had a new prime minister today after the sudden resignation of ailing Dudley Senanayake.

Senanayake, suffering from a stomach disorder which was further aggravated by a mounting economic and political crisis in his country dramatically resigned today. He blamed ill health.

Named to succeed him was his cousin, wealthy Transport Minister Sir John Lionel Kotelawela, described by his opponents as an impatient advocate of strong arm methods in government.

Twelve federal officials have been tried in impeachment proceedings in the history of the United States. Of these, four were found guilty on one or more counts.

Horseman Has Traffic Troubles

MIAMISBURG, Ohio, Oct. 12 (AP) —Troubles just kept piling up on Rufus Stapleton, 32. He was involved in a weekend accident here and must pay $25 damages for denting the fender of an automobile.

Charged with intoxication, Stapleton also ran a red light, police said; failed to put a coin in a parking meter, and hid under parked car when they tried to arrest him.

Stapleton was riding a horse.

Justice Protests As High Tribunal Rebuffs Negroes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider the case of two Negro airmen doomed to die for the rape-murder of a white girl and Justice Frankfurter protested in a 9-page opinion.

In a 6-2 decision last June 15 the high tribunal rejected habeas corpus proceedings begun by attorneys for the Negroes, Robert W. Burns and Herman P. Dennis Jr.

The late Chief Justice Vinson wrote the majority opinion. The dissenters were Justices Douglas and Black. Frankfurter wrote a separate statement at the time saying he could not vote because the legal issues involved "were not explored in all their significance in the submissions" made to the court by lawyers.

After the court recessed last June the two Negroes asked the tribunal to reconsider the June 15 decision this fall. Douglas and Black noted no protest to the court's refusal to do so but Frankfurter spoke up again.

He said fundamental issues had not been argued by lawyers nor considered by the Supreme Court and therefore the whole case should be reargued. He said for example he felt the Supreme Court "should frankly face up" to a question of jurisdiction involved in the case, "even at the risk of concluding that a legislative remedy is necessary."

Burns and Dennis were convicted of killing Ruth Farnsworth in December, 1948, while she was serving as a civilian government employee on Guam. At the time the appeal for the Negroes was filed, they were held in an Army stockade in Yokohama, Japan.

Kaiser Will Resume Henry J Production

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (AP) — Kaiser Motors Corp. announced today it will resume production of Henry J passenger cars Oct. 26.

Kaiser's big Willow Run plant near here, where automobiles and Air Force cargo planes used to come off parallel assembly lines, has been shut down since June 29.

The company's plane contracts were cancelled by the government. Kaiser did not say when it would resume production of its larger Kaiser model cars.

The resumption of production was announced as the company signed an amended labor contract with the CIO United Auto Workers. Kaiser had insisted on contract amendments before starting up assembly lines again.

8-Year Military Obligation Facing Every Youth In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah said today every American youth faces an 8-year military obligation, whether he is drafted or enlists.

Not all that time would involve active duty, however, Hannah pointed out. It would include from four to six years of reserve services, depending upon whether a man enlisted or was drafted.

Hannah also declared that the accumulated supply of eligible military manpower has been "pretty much depleted" since the outbreak of the Korean War in mid-1950.

He said it will be 1960 before there will be more than a million eligible youths available for service—either through the draft or enlistments—to fill out the nation's annual requirements.

"As far as we can see, it is going to be necessary to maintain armed forces at approximately the present size for an indefinite period," Hannah said.

"The decision has been made that there shall be no reduction in combat effectiveness in any of the services for an indefinite period.

"And we are going to move in the direction of increasing the combat effectiveness of the Air Force."

Hannah, who is on leave from his post as president of Michigan State College, disclosed these phases of long-range Pentagon planning in a copyrighted interview in U. S. News & World Report, independent weekly news magazine published here.

Speaking of military manpower, Hannah said most people in this country apparently are unaware of the 8-year service obligation facing the nation's youth.

Man Without Country Gets Permit To Live In Dominican Republic

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 12 (AP)—Michael Patrick O'Brien, the modern-day man without a country, got permission today to live in the Dominican Republic.

O'Brien, 58, has been trying for more than two years to find haven ashore. He was a waterfront bartender before he escaped from Communist China. His name broke into the news when he rode a ferry for 10 months between Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao because neither place would accept him.

O'Brien's White Russian wife and child were last reported in Brazil. Brazilian authorities refused to permit him entry.

He sailed back to Europe. France refused to admit him. Italy turned him down.

He returned to Brazil but authorities again slammed the door.

O'Brien's claim to United States citizenship has never been recognized.

Cole Says Russia Tested H-Bomb

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) stated flatly today Russia "exploded a hydrogen bomb" two months ago and may shortly have "hundreds or even thousands" of them.

The chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee told state and national American Legion officials the Soviets have the capacity to "outstrip us decisively" if "our hydrogen effort falters."

He said the United States should assign wartime urgency to its hydrogen bomb effort, making it comparable "in scale, dollars, resources, daring and speed to our entire atomic effort of World War II." He added:

"Here is the stark arithmetic of the matter: seven years elapsed between Hiroshima and our own hydrogen test of last fall; four years elapsed between the first Russian A-bomb that we detected and Moscow's hydrogen test. These are not very comforting statistics."

Four Bodies Found After Boating Tragedy

CENTREVILLE, Md., Oct. 12 (AP) —Two more bodies were recovered today in the grim aftermath of a Kent Narrows boating tragedy which brought death to at least four persons.

Police continued an investigation to determine whether all occupants of the ill-fated vessel were accounted for.

Four escaped when the skiff capsized yesterday southwest of Grasonville, Md., and just east of Chesapeake Bay Bridge. Two bodies were recovered before nightfall Sunday.

Those raised today were Corrine Dobson, 21, and James Otha Conyer, 47. The earlier victims had been identified as James Albert Johnson, 21, and Oneda May Stubbs, 34.

Wicks Rejects Dewey Demand That He Resign

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today demanded the resignation of acting Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks, who visited labor extortionist Joseph Fay in prison, but Wicks refused.

Instead, Wicks said he would submit his resignation as Republican Senate leader at a previously scheduled special legislative session next month "and let the Senate pass upon my fitness."

After a four-hour meeting with Dewey, Wicks explained that he turned down the governor's demand because "it was not within his province as governor to ask my resignation. I was elected to my position as majority leader of the Senate by members of that body."

Wicks, as Senate majority leader, automatically became acting lieutenant governor two weeks ago on the resignation of Frank C. Moore.

Dewey, grave-faced, greeted reporters in his office to announce his failure to convince Wicks that he should resign.

"We had an extended conversation," he said. "The senator refused to resign."

Dewey added:

"I expressed to the senator my repeated disapproval of visits by public officers to convicts except in the course of their official duties. The senator expressed his conviction that what he did was proper and in the interest of his constituents."

8-Year Military Obligation Facing Every Youth In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Defense John A. Hannah said today every American youth faces an 8-year military obligation, whether he is drafted or enlists.

Not all that time would involve active duty, however, Hannah pointed out. It would include from four to six years of reserve services, depending upon whether a man enlisted or was drafted.

Hannah also declared that the accumulated supply of eligible military manpower has been "pretty much depleted" since the outbreak of the Korean War in mid-1950.

He said it will be 1960 before there will be more than a million eligible youths available for service—either through the draft or enlistments—to fill out the nation's annual requirements.

"As far as we can see, it is going to be necessary to maintain armed forces at approximately the present size for an indefinite period," Hannah said.

"The decision has been made that there shall be no reduction in combat effectiveness in any of the services for an indefinite period.

"And we are going to move in the direction of increasing the combat effectiveness of the Air Force."

Hannah, who is on leave from his post as president of Michigan State College, disclosed these phases of long-range Pentagon planning in a copyrighted interview in U. S. News & World Report, independent weekly news magazine published here.

Speaking of military manpower, Hannah said most people in this country apparently are unaware of the 8-year service obligation facing the nation's youth.

Man Without Country Gets Permit To Live In Dominican Republic

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 12 (AP)—Michael Patrick O'Brien, the modern-day man without a country, got permission today to live in the Dominican Republic.

O'Brien, 58, has been trying for more than two years to find haven ashore. He was a waterfront bartender before he escaped from Communist China. His name broke into the news when he rode a ferry for 10 months between Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao because neither place would accept him.

O'Brien's White Russian wife and child were last reported in Brazil. Brazilian authorities refused to permit him entry.

He sailed back to Europe. France refused to admit him. Italy turned him down.

He returned to Brazil but authorities again slammed the door.

O'Brien's claim to United States citizenship has never been recognized.

Cole Says Russia Tested H-Bomb

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) stated flatly today Russia "exploded a hydrogen bomb" two months ago and may shortly have "hundreds or even thousands" of them.

The chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee told state and national American Legion officials the Soviets have the capacity to "outstrip us decisively" if "our hydrogen effort falters."

He said the United States should assign wartime urgency to its hydrogen bomb effort, making it comparable "in scale, dollars, resources, daring and speed to our entire atomic effort of World War II." He added:

"Here is the stark arithmetic of the matter: seven years elapsed between Hiroshima and our own hydrogen test of last fall; four years elapsed between the first Russian A-bomb that we detected and Moscow's hydrogen test. These are not very comforting statistics."

Reds Doom 13 "Spies"

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 12 (AP) — Thirteen persons, charged with espionage and sabotage activity, were sentenced to death tonight by a Bucharest military court, Radio Bucharest announced.

Four Bodies Found After Boating Tragedy

CENTREVILLE, Md., Oct. 12 (AP) —Two more bodies were recovered today in the grim aftermath of a Kent Narrows boating tragedy which brought death to at least four persons.

Police continued an investigation to determine whether all occupants of the ill-fated vessel were accounted for.

Four escaped when the skiff capsized yesterday southwest of Grasonville, Md., and just east of Chesapeake Bay Bridge. Two bodies were recovered before nightfall Sunday.

Those raised today were Corrine Dobson, 21, and James Otha Conyer, 47. The earlier victims had been identified as James Albert Johnson, 21, and Oneda May Stubbs, 34.

Wicks Rejects Dewey Demand That He Resign

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today demanded the resignation of acting Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks, who visited labor extortionist Joseph Fay in prison, but Wicks refused.

Instead, Wicks said he would submit his resignation as Republican Senate leader at a previously scheduled special legislative session next month "and let the Senate pass upon my fitness."

After a four-hour meeting with Dewey, Wicks explained that he turned down the governor's demand because "it was not within his province as governor to ask my resignation. I was elected to my position as majority leader of the Senate by members of that body."

Wicks, as Senate majority leader, automatically became acting lieutenant governor two weeks ago on the resignation of Frank C. Moore.

Dewey, grave-faced, greeted reporters in his office to announce his failure to convince Wicks that he should resign.

"We had an extended conversation," he said. "The senator refused to resign."

Dewey added:

"I expressed to the senator my repeated disapproval of visits by public officers to convicts except in the course of their official duties. The senator expressed his conviction that what he did was proper and in the interest of his constituents."

Publisher, Former W. Va. Senator Dies

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 12 (AP) — Hugh Ike Shott, who rose from printer's helper to influential publisher and Republican U.S. Senator, died today at the age of 87.

Shott died at his home, Lake Place, in Bluefield. The city is the hub of the rich Pocahontas coal fields, the development of which Shott witnessed and wrote about over the decades in the Bluefield Daily Telegraph.

Katz, McKeldin Aide, Censured By Grand Jury

SNOW HILL, Md., Oct. 12 (AP)—Capt. Menash E. Katz, special state police aide to five Maryland governors, was publicly censured by the Worcester County grand jury today.

The jury also urged that Katz be officially reprimanded for jokingly criticizing law enforcement in the county.

In a report issued at the start of the county circuit court's fall term, the jury said Katz had appeared before it and admitted his remarks "were in bad taste."

Katz "admitted he was a great kidder" and was "apologetic" for having made the remarks, the report said.

There was no official indication of where or when the police official had made comments leading to his appearance before the jury.

The veteran officer, special aide to every Maryland governor since the administration of the late Albert C. Ritchie, was summoned dramatically last month in New York. The jury summons was served on him the same day he was scheduled to board a plane for Israel, where he had been chosen to represent the United States in the pistol marksmanship competition of an international athletics meet.

Katz immediately flew to Maryland's Eastern Shore, testified before the grand jury, and returned to New York in time to make the overseas trip.

Katz said today, "The law permits me to say nothing about a grand jury proceeding."

Gov. McKeldin said he is withholding comment until he sees the report.

The retiring jury also returned 29 indictments which will be followed up by the incoming jury during its term. G. Hale Harrison, nurseryman and hotel operator from Berlin, Md., and Ocean City, was named foreman of the new jury.

Held For Holdup

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12 (AP)—Ira W. Armes, 29, Danville, Va., today was placed under $10,000 for grand jury action on a charge of holding up a loan office at the bustling intersection of Baltimore and Light Streets.

Gridder Rescues Boy From Flames

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 12 (AP)—Paul Reger, 24-year-old end on the football team at West Liberty State College, climbed into the second floor of a burning house and rescued a two-year-old boy last night after two earlier attempts had failed.

The youngster, Eugene Custer, still was in critical condition today with burns over 50 to 60 per cent of his body.

Juror Shortage Holds Up Trial

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., Oct. 12 (AP)—A shortage of jurors today held up the start of the manslaughter trial of seven men charged with beating to death a carpenter from Laurel, Md., last July.

Circuit Judge James Clark drew the names of 48 more persons for jury duty and ordered the proceedings to resume tomorrow.

The seven are charged with killing E. G. Padgett, who was found unconscious July 27 at a Patuxent River swimming hole near Spencerville in Montgomery County.

Police quoted him as saying before he died he had gotten into an argument at the swimming hole with a group of Negroes. Investigation showed Padgett left the scene but returned later with a gun and fired two shots. No one was hit by the bullets.

Two of the nine persons rounded up and charged with manslaughter—Joseph Jones and Olivia Doyce of Silver Spring—requested separate trials.

The other seven who will go on trial tomorrow are James N. Bailey, Donald V. Jackson, Margaret V. Wilson, Dorothy E. Reddix, and Nancy L. Wilson, all of Silver Spring, Gladys V. Still of Washington, and Nelson A. Kelley of Wheaton.

Lead And Zinc Protection

Lines are forming throughout the country on an issue that could provide a full-dress battle on the Eisenhower Administration's foreign trade policy early in the next session of Congress. Whether to provide tariff protection for the depressed lead and zinc mining industries could involve high-tariff Republicans and free-trade Republicans, also Democrats, in a battle over the whole idea of "trade, not aid."

High tariff Republicans suffered a setback at the most recent session of Congress when the House voted—242 to 161—to return to the Ways and Means Committee a bill imposing quotas on imports of lead and zinc and otherwise giving domestic producers increased protection. That measure, introduced by Representative Simpson (R., Pa.), was favorably reported by a majority of the Ways and Means Committee. It has the support of Chairman Reed (R., N. Y.). And it could be reported again at any time after the opening of the new session of Congress.

In the House debate on the Simpson bill on July 23 last, Majority Leader Halleck (Ind.) said it would "seriously hamper" the administration's foreign economic program. Minority Leader Rayburn (Texas) said it would "practically rip up the reciprocal trade program by the roots." And Representative Cooper (D., Tenn.) recounted that Secretary of States Dulles, asked in committee whether he thought it would be better for the Trade Agreements Act to expire than to have the Simpson bill enacted, had answered, "Yes."

The reciprocal trade extender passed by Congress at the last session expires on June 12, 1954. One of its provisions establishes a commission to study economic foreign policy, with intructions to report to Congress its findings and recommendations not later than 60 days after the opening of the new session. The commission hardly failed to cover the lead and zinc situation in its report.

Representatives of the Western and Mid-Western mining states in debate on the Simpson bill depicted in detail the current depression in the lead and zinc industries. Representative Dawson (R., Utah) noted that his state normally had some 200 lead and zinc mines in operation, but that in July only eight were open: "The mines that are closing or have closed are not marginal mines. It takes about 17.5 cents a pound to operate a marginal mine for zinc, but in this bill we are asking for a price of only 15.5 cents, which is the bare cost of producing for most of the mines."

Representative Edmonson (D., Okla.) declared that a real depression exsited "not only in the affected mines but the mills and supply industries and other related industries." And Representative Aspinall (D., Colo.) quoted a New York Times dispatch that reported, "Some operators continue to mine lead and zinc only because it would be more costly to shut down—unless of course, all hope for a market upturn in the next several months were abandoned."

In 1952, U. S. imports of zinc were 85½ per cent of U. S. production of that commodity. The previous peak in imports as related to domestic production had been registered in 1945, when imports mounted to almost 78 per cent of production.

The figures for lead are even more startling. Imports amounted to 170 per cent of domestic production in 1952, as against a previous peak of about 124 per cent in 1950. The price of zinc has fallen from 18 cents per pound in 1951 to below 11 cents; of lead from 18 cents in 1942 to about 12 cents.

The Sooner The Better

No less than the President himself, the American people are fed up with the loose, and often contradictory, statements out of Washington with respect to Russia's hydrogen bomb potential. As they listen to various government officials—including Secretary of Defense Wilson, Director Fleming of the Office of Defense Mobilization, and Civil Defense Administrator Peterson—they can draw almost any conclusion that suits them.

They cannot comfort themselves with the thought that the Soviet Union "does not yet have the bomb" or they can let themselves be frightened by the outright declaration that Russia is capable of delivering "on chosen targets in the United States the most destructive weapon ever devised by man."

Obviously, somebody does not know what he is talking about. There is good reason, therefore, to accept as true the story that the President has informed all and sundry that any further statements on the subject must either conform to the decisions of the National Security Council or be cleared at the White House.

A still better way to end the confusion will be for the President himself to advance as far as possible the date for his own report to the people. He has promised to discuss the hydrogen bomb, the menace it holds for America, and what are the proper defense steps for this country to take.

Shuttle Service

With Vice President Nixon embarked on his presidential fact-finding tour within days of the return of Senator Knowland from an extended Asiatic trip, the U. S. can be said to have initiated a high-level commuter's service to the Far East.

The contribution such first hand observations can make to American policy is reflected in Senator Knowland's comments after conferring with the President and the secretary of State.

Certainly great importance must be attached to his remark that Prime Minister Nehru of India does not speak as the voice of India. America's allies, notably the British, and a sizable body of experts in this country, have been expounding the idea that India constitutes the most powerful, democratically inclined counter-force to Communist expansion in Asia.

They declaim that the U. S. should overlook India's current weakness for communism as misguided short-term quixotism in exchange for long-range advantages of Indian friendship. Indeed, Washington's acceptance of India as the key member of the neutral repatriation commission in Korea represents at least partial acquiescence to that point of view.

But Senate Majority Leader Knowland warns that listening to India as the voice of Asia would ultimately result in communization of the entire continent. This is an eyewitness evaluation that should give pause in highest circles. Perhaps America's Far Eastern shuttle service has begun to pay off.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Keep Plugging Away At Acne

Do adolescents outgrow acne? Many do but there are so many exceptions it is difficult to predict who will be cured. Some are far into their twenties before the disease disappears; in others the outbreaks continue for another decade. This in itself is a good reason why acne should not be neglected.

However, the disorder is unpredictable for other reasons. Pimples usually disappear without leaving blemishes but here again exceptions occur. Some leave deep scars that cannot be erased. These pits occur even when the boy or girl was scarcely bothered as well as in youngsters whose parents considered the lesions too trivial to require care. However, the scars that hurt most are those that never show. They stem from the adverse psychic effects in the self-conscious individual who is insecure and uncertain about life in general. These young men and women appreciate help and are grateful when treatment is successful.

There is nothing new in acne. Most research continues along the glandular line and from time to time a report appears on the influence of sex hormones taken internally or locally in the form of ointments. The results are startling occasionally but in my opinion should be weighed against the possibility that the entire glandular system might be disrupted. Such heroic measures ought to be limited to the few who fail to respond to simpler measures.

What are the simpler measures? Diet is one and cleanliness is another. We know that food is not the only factor but enough acne victims have found that the skin is so aggravated by chocolate, nut sundaes, shellfish, rich foods, and soft drinks that these substances should be avoided. Fat itself does not make the skin oily despite the fact that the two often are associated. Cleanliness also is essential because it dissolves and removes the plugs of dirt and greasy materials that obstruct the hair follicles. In addition, cleanliness decreases the excessive oiliness associated with acne. There is no trick to this part of the treatment because nothing more than soap and hot water are required. Ordinary soap will do altho some authorities prefer the medicated variety such as salicylic acid or sulfur. In the final analysis washing with hot water is more important than the kind of soap altho soap is needed to cut the grease.

Many lotions are available to apply in the evening before retiring. Some of the old preparations remain favorites. One is lotio alba which contains sulfur and salicylic acid; others already made up smell a little sweeter or look more inviting. During the day, women should avoid the use of a heavy base and pancake make-up because they clog the pores. Skin coloring products are available to serve as a substitute cosmetic to cover the blemishes.

X-ray probably is the most effective remedy but it must be administered by some one competent along this line. Here again it is best to postpone this method until the outcome of simpler treatment is known. The antibiotics like penicillin, terramycin, and erythromycin also are of value but the results are too fleeting to warrant their use on a condition that has a tendency to last for months or years.

TOMORROW: Relaxation and moderation after coronary.

PAIN IS NOT IMAGINARY

Mrs. L. writes: A few weeks ago I heard somewhere that most women who consult a physician have nothing wrong with them. Do you agree with this statement?

REPLY

Everyone who consults a physician has something wrong even though examination fails to disclose a disease to account for symptoms. Backache may develop in women, for example, even though the spine is normal, as a result of strain or overfatigue. The trouble with so-called imaginary ailments is that time and ingenuity are required to determine the cause and most men and women are not willing to cooperate along this line or to admit that their trouble is of nervous origin.

SPINAL DEFECT

D. W. writes: Can spina bifida occulta in an adult be cured by surgery?

REPLY

This condition, seldom, if ever, requires treatment. The disorder represents a defect in the development of a vertebra in the lower spine and rarely, if ever, produces symptoms in adults.

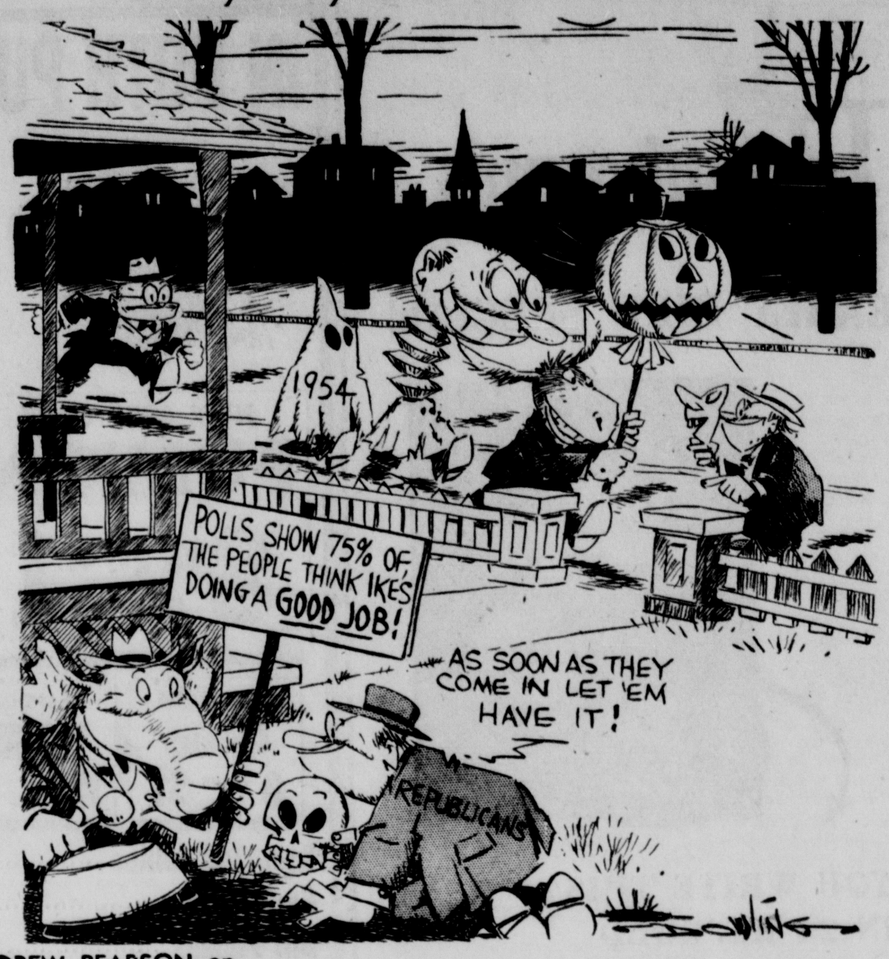

EFFECT OF FOOD

T. W. writes: My doctor wants me to cut down on rough and fatty foods because I have an irritated bowel. Can you tell me what foods do in such a condition?

REPLY

Roughage irritates the inside wall of the bowel and excessive amounts may lead to painful spasms. Fats also are more difficult to digest and may be associated with increased fermentation, which will augment existing distress.

Senators Wined And Dined By Air Force; Many Tax Fraud Penalties Are Unfair, Internal Revenue Admits On Questioning By Senator Dingell

WASHINGTON—Though the Air Force is so hard up for funds that it has been forced to cancel 955 planes and 6,000 jet engines, it is spending money like water on free transportation and entertainment for the same senators and congressmen who helped slash their budget.

More than two dozen congressional parties are now away on overseas junkets—from the sunny climes of South America to the gay night life of Paris and Rome. Wherever they go, the Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden, Germany, sent the following confidential dispatch to Wheelus Air Force Base at Tripoli, Libya:

"Case Subcommittee on Real Estate and Military Construction will visit your base on 26 September," the message read. "Length of stay in Wheelus probably one day. Group is composed of Chairman Francis Case, (SD), Senators James H. Duff, (Pa), John C. Stennis, (Miss), Ralph E. Flanders, (Vt). John S. Cooper, (Ky), Mr. Wm. H. Darden, committee counsel, Mr. Frank R. Creedon (Defense Department), Col. E. V. Schuyler (Air Force), and Lt. Col. E. H. Hathaway, escort officer.

"Purpose of this visit is to inspect construction progress of Air Force installations. Maj. Gen. Colby Myers will represent this headquarters and will accompany the group to your area. In addition, wives of Senators Case, Stennis, Duff, Flanders and Mr. Darden, and daughters of Senators Case and Stennis will accompany party. Request accommodations be arranged for all members of this group for night of 26 September. Requests also entertainment, escort of shopping and sightseeing arrangements for ladies of party be planned.

After time out for entertainment and sightseeing around Tripoli, it is doubtful that this senatorial party will get much inspecting done during their overnight stay at Wheelus Air Force Base. Their formidable escorts—one general, two colonels and a Defense Department official—should be able to provide good guide service.

NOTE—Most overseas tours are strictly vacations at the taxpayers' expense, but some are legitimate. For example, Senator Ellender of Louisiana has just returned from a hard-working, two-month, round-the world mission for the Senate Appropriations Committee. He went to the out-of-way places, rather than vacation spots, collected 21 books of painstaking notes on what he found.

Unfair Tax Fraud

It wasn't supposed to leak out, but T. Coleman Andrews, the nation's tax chief, admitted behind closed doors recently that "an awful lot" of innocent people have been slapped with tax-fraud penalties.

This shocking admission was drawn from him by Congressman John Dingell, Michigan Democrat, at a secret meeting of the Joint Congressional Committee on Taxation.

"Why do you slap on so many fraud cases that never hold water? Is it just to put a ring in the taxpayer's nose and hold him close?" demanded Dingell.

"I am not at all happy about the situation," acknowledged Andrews. He explained that the practice had been to charge civil fraud in cases where evidence for a criminal indictment was lacking.

"I am worried about these (civil fraud) cases," he confessed in the closed-door session. "I am afraid, very frankly, that there have been an awful lot of citizens in this country who have been slapped with a fraud penalty without being guilty of any fraud."

"I know of one case," Dingell pointed out, "where the intervention of a senator, A Republican senator, helped settle a matter on a basis of one-eleventh with $110,000 involved. And I know that the government got more than it was entitled to in the $10,000 settlement."

Dingell also charged that tax agents had misused the net-worth technique in trying to trap tax delinquents. The mistake had been made of adding up duplicate bank figures, he claimed, so it would appear a taxpayer had deposited twice as much money as he actually had put into the bank.

"You just count figures and never mind using your brains," snorted the grizzled old Michigan Democrat.

"The net-worth theory was adopted without, in my opinion, a proper instruction to those who have to apply it," admitted Andrews. "We propose to send out a manual to include in our training, which is an up-to-date discourse on how to use the net-worth theory."

Helping Taxpayers

Chairman Dan Reed of New York then pulled out a letter, which he claimed had been sent to him by a field agent. The letter complained that all tax examiners had been taken off their cases and assigned to helping taxpayers make out their returns during the tax-filing period.

"It looks like close to one-half a year's revenue through field examination will be lost," Reed quoted the letter. "It may be close to $1,000,000,000 in my estimation, which is not good reading in view of the President's desire to balance the budget."

The Internal Revenue commissioner admitted that 536 man-years of the agents' time had been spent helping taxpayers with their returns this spring, but argued it hadn't cost the government $1,000,000,000 in lost revenue. The difference between what the agents uncovered, he said, was only $250,000,000 less this year than last.

Andrews' biggest complain was that "we are right now dreadfully short of revenue agents.

"We are trying to fill up and trying to get 1,200 agents," he reported. "But I say to you that it is extremely hard to get them."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Traubel Vs. Bing

Rudolf Bing, who manages the Metropolitan Opera very well, objects to Helen Traubel singing in night clubs and at the Metropolitan. For him, it is one or the other. Whereupon Miss Traubel waxed lyrical about American folk music, which she just loves to sing in the night clubs, which pay her in the vicinity of $5,000 a week, more or less, a sum that the Metropolitan cannot meet.

The press made quite a thing of the story and generally gave Bing a Bronx cheer, which is a dastardly unmusical note. However, Wagner will be sung without Traubel as it was before Traubel ever put foot on board. The classics have a way of finding artists who are willing to sing them and play them at whatever the box office will bear, and to accept the disciplines which they require.

There was a great Metropolitan artist who thought he could resist discipline, so he got himself a job which required an enormous amount of singing. Soon the finely attuned ears of musicians noted a hoarseness that should not have been there. Then came the slight — off pitch which proved that the vocal chords were weary. That great artist is not doing too much singing these days.

It would be difficult to imagine Caruso singing even a Neapolitan ditty in a 52nd Street bistro, the smoke not only in his eyes but inhaled into his throat and lungs. Maybe it is not important that Caruso should ever have existed; yet his glorious tenor is a delight even today on the old-fashioned recordings. With Chaliapin, it might have been different; his bass voice seemed to have been able to stand anything.

I used to watch Mario Lanza move the piano up at Tanglewood during the summer that he was there trying to get an educated voice. I did not then know that he would ever be a lusty tenor, cleaning up on Hollywood salaries. But if anyone wants to test the difference between Caruso and Lanza, listen to the recordings of each, singing the same music. Bing never asked Lanza to sing at the Metropolitan.

To sing Wagner, such perfection of voice as few possess is required. Perhaps I might make this comparison: listen to Isaac Stern or Zino Francescatti play the fiddle and then ask an amateur, who has been practicing for 10 years, to play on his own fiddle. Instrument and soul betray the amateur. Stern, in particular, makes a violin live. One looks at the heavy-set, almost square figure holding his instrument with his chin, and wonders what he can do. Such artists as Kreisler, Heifetz, Elman, Jan Kubelik of another vintage can make music speak and thrill.

But nobody would want to listen to such an artist play in a saloon, with the fat man gooing inebriately a much too young gal who giggles. Murder would be defensible under such circumstances.

There is such a thing as artistic self-respect, which is different from artistic snobbery. There is music for the moment and music that elevates the mind and spirit of man. Jerome Kern and George Gershwin have written some music that must live because of its great beauty, but much of what we call popular music is written to amuse, to entertain, to create fun. Everything has its own place and its own time. It is possible to enjoy Bach and bebop, but not at the same time, just as it is fun dancing to Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and it is elevating to listen to Brahms' Requiem. But not by the same orchestra. I doubt whether the Boston Symphony could send a youngster.

The point is that what Rudolf Bing is fighting for is a perfect performance at the Metropolitan by artists who discipline themselves for the ardent and even arduous artistry that operatic music requires. Unfortunately, the Metropolitan no longger has the money to pay its singers what they could when the Vanderbilts and Otto Kahn footed the deficits.

The opera and other cultural groups cannot pay for themselves and maintain high standards. Therefore, they are in peril that their artists will wander where the green is more plentiful and luscious. If it is money that counts, the night clubs will win in this contest.

The News From China

HONG KONG

The news from China pours into this city in a turgid flood. Strength and weakness, famine and military buildup, brilliant successes in construction and failures in industry, silly propaganda gestures, bold, ambitious plans, oppression, achievement, folly and ruthlessness — all these themes are tumbled together in this news from China in a pattern so strange that it sometimes seems meaningless.

All the Western specialists who gather here to read the Chinese riddle are faithful students of the Peking "People's Daily," which has something of the authority of "Pravda." Yet here is the "People's Daily" discussing the very odd things that can happen when a vast, ill trained bureaucracy is struggling to force the huge and ancient mass of China into the mold of a slave state:

"The disorder in the party work in the field of statistical compilation in the rural districts has developed to an unbearable extent! Without consideration of the actual conditions in the rural districts, some returns require data of an extremely ridiculous nature. In compiling statistics of mules and bees, the data are required to give the number of male mules and female mules, the number of male bees and the number of female bees. In compiling statistics of the catching of mosquitoes, flies and lices, the data are required to give the weight in catty of insects caught, as well as the number. One item of a certain form refers to the use of feminine sanitary belts by peasant women, whether of old style or improved style!"

Honeymoon Is Over

The indignation of the "People's Daily" is altogether understandable. But speaking seriously, this sometimes ludicrous and more often grim news from China begins, after a while, to tell a rather clear story to anyone who studies it carefully. It is a story that comes in four parts, none of them pleasing.

First, the present phase of the Chinese Communist regime is strictly transitional. The honeymoon, when the Communists were welcomed as a new force bringing order to a strife-weary land, is definitely over. This is the time of preliminary military buildup and iron consolidation of the new government's power. Both efforts are proceeding with conspicuous success.

Second, the familiar Communist process of grinding the masses to mincemeat in order to mold a new nation is utterly alienating the Chinese people. But the regime unquestionably commands the loyalty of the favored groups — the party cadres, the youth, the police and the army. The security forces have successfully stamped out all active centers of disaffection. No one should expect a spontaneous popular rising to free China now or in the future.

Third, this will continue to be true, even though pretty terrible things now loom ahead. The Chinese have been relieved of the strain of the Korean War, but this strain is now to be replaced by the perhaps more severe strain of intensive national development. China, that always imported food in the past, and lived always on the narrow verge of misery, is now to pay for an immense program of industrialization out of a reduced national income. China, with far fewer resources, is to do what Russia did — and at what cost to the Russian people!

Southeast Asia Has Resources

Fourth, there is no question whatever about the chilly, unyielding determination of the Chinese Communist leaders to transform their country into a military-industrial great power at any cost. There is a good deal of doubt, however, about their ability to do the job with the resources now available to them. Even with large scale aid from Russia, even if the people are driven or starved to death by the tens of millions, China may still lack the margin that is needed to make a military-industrial great power out of an ancient agrarian society.

These four parts of the story that are already discernible give an uncomfortable hint as to the possible fifth part.

Southeast Asia has everything that China needs. The rice, the rubber, the minerals, timber and petroleum of Indo-China, Burma, Siam and Malay must gleam before the eyes of the Peking government as the golden solution. With these resources under their control, the Chinese Communists would be able to accomplish without severe strain the gigantic task that may otherwise prove beyond their strength.

It is foolish, at this time, to conclude that the Communist high command is already planning an onslaught upon Southeast Asia, and has disentangled the Chinese armies from Korea for this but it is wrong to ignore this possibility. And it is very foolish to forget the pressures and temptations to which the future will expose the Chinese Communists.

If present tendencies continue, Southeast Asia will still be soft and virtually undefeated two years from now. Within this short time, meanwhile, Communist China will have built up military power that may still be rather primitive, but will certainly be immeasurably greater than any other military power in this area. In this same period also, the cruel difficulties of the task they have undertaken will no doubt come to loom even larger in the eyes of the Peking leadership.

Unchallengeable Chinese military power; an acutely painful problem in China; a wonderfully easy solution of that problem across undefended borders—such is likely to be an explosive combination in Asia in the rather near future. Any American policy that fails to take these converging trends into account does not deserve the name of national policy.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The most important happening in the world at the moment is the realistic change in British policy toward Communist imperialism occasioned by the sudden threat of Communists to take over control of British Guiana.

With a swiftness that used to be characteristic of the Colonel Blimps of British diplomacy in the old days, an aircraft carrier and three other warships and several hundred troops have been ordered to prevent the Communists from taking over the colonial government and establishing a dictatorship on the Northern coast of South America. The prime minister and five other cabinet officers in British Guiana have been booted out by the London government and a six-months old constitution has been scrapped.

Endorsed By U. S.

Now nobody in America is rising to propose a "non-aggression" pact between the British government in London and the Communists in British Guiana. Nor is there talk of "negotiation" rather than a show of force as the best way out. Indeed, nobody in the United States is expressing alarm that the British have been too "impulsive" or "impatient" and that this is the kind of thing that leads to "warmongering" or enlargement of the "cold war."

On the contrary the United States government, with a deep-seated belief in the importance of maintaining good faith in alliances, has promptly endorsed the British action and has notified all Latin-American governments that such endorsement has been given. That's unity with a capital "U."

Maybe the London government will appreciate what the United States government didn't do—as, for instance, rushing in to recognize the Red Government in British Guiana with an argument that, after all, the local government there exercises complete military control of the whole country and, therefore, is entitled to diplomatic recognition, as the British have argued in defense of their recognition of Red China.

Maybe Prime Minister Nehru of India will disagree with what has been done in British Guiana. He has a sentimental interest, because half the population of British Guiana came originally from India. The Asian leader, on the other hand, usually confines his epithets about "irresponsible government" to the South Korean regime. He never criticizes Moscow or Peiping, but aims his verbal bomb at the United States because it refuses to treat as a satellite the South Korean government, set up originally by the U. N., and regards it as an independent government which has made great sacrifices for freedom. The developments in British Guiana will certainly furnish a test of Nehru's consistency.

May Improve Relations

What has occasioned surprise here, however, is that the British government in London has itself risen so resolutely to the occasion and that it discovered before it was too late how Communists infiltrate a free country. The British evidently are not so much in need of a McCarthy, after all, as has been thought by some American observers, including this writer. For somehow the British government now has come to believe that the "left wing" People's Progressive party in British Guiana isn't just a political party but a treasonable conspiracy, and that to interfere with the sacred right of "free speech" and the right to "political beliefs" in such a situation is merely to assert the right of self-preservation for British rule as against a plotted rebellion.

Maybe now there will be less scoffing in Britain at so-called "witch-hunting" or "hysteria" in America and those "reckless Amerans" who insist on exposing a Communist plot long before it gets to the point of actually taking over a government. Certainly this concrete example in British Guiana of what Communist infiltration can do—when its activities are too long looked upon as merely "political beliefs" without regard to conspiratorial acts—will have a salutary effect throughout the world. It certainly vindicates the persistent efforts of the committees of Congress here in exposing Communist "methods." For, if the British government, known everywhere for its tolerance, cannot brook the treason of the Communist leaders in British Guiana, Britons can hardly sneer at the American attitude toward Communist conspiracies. It could lead to a decided improvement in British-American relations.

Lead And Zinc Protection

Lines are forming throughout the country on an issue that could provide a full-dress battle on the Eisenhower Administration's foreign trade policy early in the next session of Congress. Whether to provide tariff protection for the depressed lead and zinc mining industries could involve high-tariff Republicans and free-trade Republicans, also Democrats, in a battle over the whole idea of "trade, not aid."

High tariff Republicans suffered a setback at the most recent session of Congress when the House voted—242 to 161—to return to the Ways and Means Committee a bill imposing quotas on imports of lead and zinc and otherwise giving domestic producers increased protection. That measure, introduced by Representative Simpson (R., Pa.), was favorably reported by a majority of the Ways and Means Committee. It has the support of Chairman Reed (R., N. Y.). And it could be reported again at any time after the opening of the new session of Congress.

In the House debate on the Simpson bill on July 23 last, Majority Leader Halleck (Ind.) said it would "seriously hamper" the administration's foreign economic program. Minority Leader Rayburn (Texas) said it would "practically rip up the reciprocal trade program by the roots." And Representative Cooper (D., Tenn.) recounted that Secretary of States Dulles, asked in committee whether he thought it would be better for the Trade Agreements Act to expire than to have the Simpson bill enacted, had answered, "Yes."

The reciprocal trade extender passed by Congress at the last session expires on June 12, 1954. One of its provisions establishes a commission to study economic foreign policy, with intructions to report to Congress its findings and recommendations not later than 60 days after the opening of the new session. The commission hardly failed to cover the lead and zinc situation in its report.

Representatives of the Western and Mid-Western mining states in debate on the Simpson bill depicted in detail the current depression in the lead and zinc industries. Representative Dawson (R., Utah) noted that his state normally had some 200 lead and zinc mines in operation, but that in July only eight were open: "The mines that are closing or have closed are not marginal mines. It takes about 17.5 cents a pound to operate a marginal mine for zinc, but in this bill we are asking for a price of only 15.5 cents, which is the bare cost of producing for most of the mines."

Representative Edmonson (D., Okla.) declared that a real depression exsited "not only in the affected mines but the mills and supply industries and other related industries." And Representative Aspinall (D., Colo.) quoted a New York Times dispatch that reported, "Some operators continue to mine lead and zinc only because it would be more costly to shut down—unless of course, all hope for a market upturn in the next several months were abandoned."

In 1952, U. S. imports of zinc were 85½ per cent of U. S. production of that commodity. The previous peak in imports as related to domestic production had been registered in 1945, when imports mounted to almost 78 per cent of production.

The figures for lead are even more startling. Imports amounted to 170 per cent of domestic production in 1952, as against a previous peak of about 124 per cent in 1950. The price of zinc has fallen from 18 cents per pound in 1951 to below 11 cents; of lead from 18 cents in 1942 to about 12 cents.

The Sooner The Better

No less than the President himself, the American people are fed up with the loose, and often contradictory, statements out of Washington with respect to Russia's hydrogen bomb potential. As they listen to various government officials—including Secretary of Defense Wilson, Director Fleming of the Office of Defense Mobilization, and Civil Defense Administrator Peterson—they can draw almost any conclusion that suits them.

They cannot comfort themselves with the thought that the Soviet Union "does not yet have the bomb" or they can let themselves be frightened by the outright declaration that Russia is capable of delivering "on chosen targets in the United States the most destructive weapon ever devised by man."

Obviously, somebody does not know what he is talking about. There is good reason, therefore, to accept as true the story that the President has informed all and sundry that any further statements on the subject must either conform to the decisions of the National Security Council or be cleared at the White House.

A still better way to end the confusion will be for the President himself to advance as far as possible the date for his own report to the people. He has promised to discuss the hydrogen bomb, the menace it holds for America, and what are the proper defense steps for this country to take.

Shuttle Service

With Vice President Nixon embarked on his presidential fact-finding tour within days of the return of Senator Knowland from an extended Asiatic trip, the U. S. can be said to have initiated a high-level commuter's service to the Far East.

The contribution such first hand observations can make to American policy is reflected in Senator Knowland's comments after conferring with the President and the secretary of State.

Certainly great importance must be attached to his remark that Prime Minister Nehru of India does not speak as the voice of India. America's allies, notably the British, and a sizable body of experts in this country, have been expounding the idea that India constitutes the most powerful, democratically inclined counter-force to Communist expansion in Asia.

They declaim that the U. S. should overlook India's current weakness for communism as misguided short-term quixotism in exchange for long-range advantages of Indian friendship. Indeed, Washington's acceptance of India as the key member of the neutral repatriation commission in Korea represents at least partial acquiescence to that point of view.

But Senate Majority Leader Knowland warns that listening to India as the voice of Asia would ultimately result in communization of the entire continent. This is an eyewitness evaluation that should give pause in highest circles. Perhaps America's Far Eastern shuttle service has begun to pay off.

The results are startling occasionally but in my opinion should be weighed against the possibility that the entire glandular system might be disrupted. Such heroic measures ought to be limited to the few who fail to respond to simpler measures.

What are the simpler measures? Diet is one and cleanliness is another. We know that food is not the only factor but enough acne victims have found that the skin is so aggravated by chocolate, nut sundaes, shellfish, rich foods, and soft drinks that these substances should be avoided. Fat itself does not make the skin oily despite the fact that the two often are associated. Cleanliness also is essential because it dissolves and removes the plugs of dirt and greasy materials that obstruct the hair follicles. In addition, cleanliness decreases the excessive oiliness associated with acne. There is no trick to this part of the treatment because nothing more than soap and hot water are required. Ordinary soap will do altho some authorities prefer the medicated variety such as salicylic acid or sulfur. In the final analysis washing with hot water is more important than the kind of soap altho soap is needed to cut the grease.

X-ray probably is the most effective remedy but it must be administered by some one competent along this line. Here again it is best to postpone this method until the outcome of simpler treatment is known. The antibiotics like penicillin, terramycin, and erythromycin also are of value but the results are too fleeting to warrant their use on a condition that has a tendency to last for months or years.

PAIN IS NOT IMAGINARY

Mrs. L. writes: A few weeks ago I heard somewhere that most women who consult a physician have nothing wrong with them. Do you agree with this statement?

REPLY

Everyone who consults a physician has something wrong even though examination fails to disclose a disease to account for symptoms. Backache may develop in women, for example, even though the spine is normal, as a result of strain or overfatigue. The trouble with so-called imaginary ailments is that time and ingenuity are required to determine the cause and most men and women are not willing to cooperate along this line or to admit that their trouble is of nervous origin.

SPINAL DEFECT

D. W. writes: Can spina bifida occulta in an adult be cured by surgery?

REPLY

This condition, seldom, if ever, requires treatment. The disorder represents a defect in the development of a vertebra in the lower spine and rarely, if ever, produces symptoms in adults.

EFFECT OF FOOD

T. W. writes: My doctor wants me to cut down on rough and fatty foods because I have an irritated bowel. Can you tell me what foods do in such a condition?

REPLY

Roughage irritates the inside wall of the bowel and excessive amounts may lead to painful spasms. Fats also are more difficult to digest and may be associated with increased fermentation, which will augment existing distress.

Senators Wined And Dined By Air Force; Many Tax Fraud Penalties Are Unfair, Internal Revenue Admits On Questioning By Senator Dingell

WASHINGTON—Though the Air Force is so hard up for funds that it has been forced to cancel 955 planes and 6,000 jet engines, it is spending money like water on free transportation and entertainment for the same senators and congressmen who helped slash their budget.

More than two dozen congressional parties are now away on overseas junkets—from the sunny climes of South America to the gay night life of Paris and Rome. Wherever they go, the Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden, Germany, sent the following confidential dispatch to Wheelus Air Force Base at Tripoli, Libya:

"Case Subcommittee on Real Estate and Military Construction will visit your base on 26 September," the message read. "Length of stay in Wheelus probably one day. Group is composed of Chairman Francis Case, (SD), Senators James H. Duff, (Pa), John C. Stennis, (Miss), Ralph E. Flanders, (Vt), John S. Cooper, (Ky), Mr. Wm. H. Darden, committee counsel, Mr. Frank R. Creedon (Defense Department), Col. E. V. Schuyler (Air Force), and Lt. Col. E. H. Hathaway, escort officer.

"Purpose of this visit is to inspect construction progress of Air Force installations. Maj. Gen. Colby Myers will represent this headquarters and will accompany the group to your area. In addition, wives of Senators Case, Stennis, Duff, Flanders and Mr. Darden, and daughters of Senators Case and Stennis will accompany party. Request accommodations be arranged for all members of this group for night of 26 September. Requests also entertainment, escort of shopping and sightseeing arrangements for ladies of party be planned.

After time out for entertainment and sightseeing around Tripoli, it is doubtful that this senatorial party will get much inspecting done during their overnight stay at Wheelus Air Force Base. Their formidable escorts—one general, two colonels and a Defense Department official—should be able to provide good guide service.

NOTE—Most overseas tours are strictly vacations at the taxpayers' expense, but some are legitimate. For example, Senator Ellender of Louisiana has just returned from a hard-working, two-month, round-the world mission for the Senate Appropriations Committee. He went to the out-of-way places, rather than vacation spots, collected 21 books of painstaking notes on what he found.

Unfair Tax Fraud

It wasn't supposed to leak out, but T. Coleman Andrews, the nation's tax chief, admitted behind closed doors recently that "an awful lot" of innocent people have been slapped with tax-fraud penalties.

This shocking admission was drawn from him by Congressman John Dingell, Michigan Democrat, at a secret meeting of the Joint Congressional Committee on Taxation.

"Why do you slap on so many fraud cases that never hold water? Is it just to put a ring in the taxpayer's nose and hold him close?" demanded Dingell.

"I am not at all happy about the situation," acknowledged Andrews. He explained that the practice had been to charge civil fraud in cases where evidence for a criminal indictment was lacking.

"I am worried about these (civil fraud) cases," he confessed in the closed-door session. "I am afraid, very frankly, that there have been an awful lot of citizens in this country who have been slapped with a fraud penalty without being guilty of any fraud."

"I know of one case," Dingell pointed out, "where the intervention of a senator, A Republican senator, helped settle a matter on a basis of one-eleventh with $110,000 involved. And I know that the government got more than it was entitled to in the $10,000 settlement."

Dingell also charged that tax agents had misused the net-worth technique in trying to trap tax delinquents. The mistake had been made of adding up duplicate bank figures, he claimed, so it would appear a taxpayer had deposited twice as much money as he actually had put into the bank.

"You just count figures and never mind using your brains," snorted the grizzled old Michigan Democrat.

"The net-worth theory was adopted without, in my opinion, a proper instruction to those who have to apply it," admitted Andrews. "We propose to send out a manual to include in our training, which is an up-to-date discourse on how to use the net-worth theory."

Helping Taxpayers

Chairman Dan Reed of New York then pulled out a letter, which he claimed had been sent to him by a field agent. The letter complained that all tax examiners had been taken off their cases and assigned to helping taxpayers make out their returns during the tax-filing period.

"It looks like close to one-half a year's revenue through field examination will be lost," Reed quoted the letter. "It may be close to $1,000,000,000 in my estimation, which is not good reading in view of the President's desire to balance the budget."

The Internal Revenue commissioner admitted that 536 man-years of the agents' time had been spent helping taxpayers with their returns this spring, but argued it hadn't cost the government $1,000,000,000 in lost revenue. The difference between what the agents uncovered, he said, was only $250,000,000 less this year than last.

Andrews' biggest complain was that "we are right now dreadfully short of revenue agents.

"We are trying to fill up and trying to get 1,200 agents," he reported. "But I say to you that it is extremely hard to get them."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Traubel Vs. Bing

Rudolf Bing, who manages the Metropolitan Opera very well, objects to Helen Traubel singing in night clubs and at the Metropolitan. For him, it is one or the other. Whereupon Miss Traubel waxed lyrical about American folk music, which she just loves to sing in the night clubs, which pay her in the vicinity of $5,000 a week, more or less, a sum that the Metropolitan cannot meet.

The press made quite a thing of the story and generally gave Bing a Bronx cheer, which is a dastardly unmusical note. However, Wagner will be sung without Traubel as it was before Traubel ever put foot on board. The classics have a way of finding artists who are willing to sing them and play them at whatever the box office will bear, and to accept the disciplines which they require.

There was a great Metropolitan artist who thought he could resist discipline, so he got himself a job which required an enormous amount of singing. Soon the finely attuned ears of musicians noted a hoarseness that should not have been there. Then came the slight — off pitch which proved that the vocal chords were weary. That great artist is not doing too much singing these days.

It would be difficult to imagine Caruso singing even a Neapolitan ditty in a 52nd Street bistro, the smoke not only in his eyes but inhaled into his throat and lungs. Maybe it is not important that Caruso should ever have existed; yet his glorious tenor is a delight even today on the old-fashioned recordings. With Chaliapin, it might have been different; his bass voice seemed to have been able to stand anything.

I used to watch Mario Lanza move the piano up at Tanglewood during the summer that he was there trying to get an educated voice. I did not then know that he would ever be a lusty tenor, cleaning up on Hollywood salaries. But if anyone wants to test the difference between Caruso and Lanza, listen to the recordings of each, singing the same music. Bing never asked Lanza to sing at the Metropolitan.

To sing Wagner, such perfection of voice as few possess is required. Perhaps I might make this comparison: listen to Isaac Stern or Zino Francescatti play the fiddle and then ask an amateur, who has been practicing for 10 years, to play on his own fiddle. Instrument and soul betray the amateur. Stern, in particular, makes a violin live. One looks at the heavy-set, almost square figure holding his instrument with his chin, and wonders what he can do. Such artists as Kreisler, Heifetz, Elman, Jan Kubelik of another vintage can make music speak and thrill.

But nobody would want to listen to such an artist play in a saloon, with the fat man gooing inebriately a much too young gal who giggles. Murder would be defensible under such circumstances.

There is such a thing as artistic self-respect, which is different from artistic snobbery. There is music for the moment and music that elevates the mind and spirit of man. Jerome Kern and George Gershwin have written some music that must live because of its great beauty, but much of what we call popular music is written to amuse, to entertain, to create fun. Everything has its own place and its own time. It is possible to enjoy Bach and bebop, but not at the same time, just as it is fun dancing to Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and it is elevating to listen to Brahms' Requiem. But not by the same orchestra. I doubt whether the Boston Symphony could send a youngster.

The point is that what Rudolf Bing is fighting for is a perfect performance at the Metropolitan by artists who discipline themselves for the ardent and even arduous artistry that operatic music requires. Unfortunately, the Metropolitan no longger has the money to pay its singers what they could when the Vanderbilts and Otto Kahn footed the deficits.

The opera and other cultural groups cannot pay for themselves and maintain high standards. Therefore, they are in peril that their artists will wander where the green is more plentiful and luscious. If it is money that counts, the night clubs will win in this contest.

Matter Of Fact

The News From China

HONG KONG

The news from China pours into this city in a turgid flood. Strength and weakness, famine and military buildup, brilliant successes in construction and failures in industry, silly propaganda gestures, bold, ambitious plans, oppression, achievement, folly and ruthlessness — all these themes are tumbled together in this news from China in a pattern so strange that it sometimes seems meaningless.

All the Western specialists who gather here to read the Chinese riddle are faithful students of the Peking "People's Daily," which has something of the authority of "Pravda." Yet here is the "People's Daily" discussing the very odd things that can happen when a vast, ill trained bureaucracy is struggling to force the huge and ancient mass of China into the mold of a slave state:

"The disorder in the party work in the field of statistical compilation in the rural districts has developed to an unbearable extent! Without consideration of the actual conditions in the rural districts, some returns require data of an extremely ridiculous nature. In compiling statistics of mules and bees, the data are required to give the number of male mules and female mules, the number of male bees and the number of female bees. In compiling statistics of the catching of mosquitoes, flies and lices, the data are required to give the weight in catty of insects caught, as well as the number. One item of a certain form refers to the use of feminine sanitary belts by peasant women, whether of old style or improved style!"

Honeymoon Is Over

The indignation of the "People's Daily" is altogether understandable. But speaking seriously, this sometimes ludicrous and more often grim news from China begins, after a while, to tell a rather clear story to anyone who studies it carefully. It is a story that comes in four parts, none of them pleasing.

First, the present phase of the Chinese Communist regime is strictly transitional. The honeymoon, when the Communists were welcomed as a new force bringing order to a strife-weary land, is definitely over. This is the time of preliminary military buildup and iron consolidation of the new government's power. Both efforts are proceeding with conspicuous success.

Second, the familiar Communist process of grinding the masses to mincemeat in order to mold a new nation is utterly alienating the Chinese people. But the regime unquestionably commands the loyalty of the favored groups — the party cadres, the youth, the police and the army. The security forces have successfully stamped out all active centers of disaffection. No one should expect a spontaneous popular rising to free China now or in the future.

Third, this will continue to be true, even though pretty terrible things now loom ahead. The Chinese have been relieved of the strain of the Korean War, but this strain is now to be replaced by the perhaps more severe strain of intensive national development. China, that always imported food in the past, and lived always on the narrow verge of misery, is now to pay for an immense program of industrialization out of a reduced national income. China, with far fewer resources, is to do what Russia did — and at what cost to the Russian people!

Southeast Asia Has Resources

Fourth, there is no question whatever about the chilly, unyielding determination of the Chinese Communist leaders to transform their country into a military-industrial great power at any cost. There is a good deal of doubt, however, about their ability to do the job with the resources now available to them. Even with large scale aid from Russia, even if the people are driven or starved to death by the tens of millions, China may still lack the margin that is needed to make a military-industrial great power out of an ancient agrarian society.

These four parts of the story that are already discernible give an uncomfortable hint as to the possible fifth part.

Southeast Asia has everything that China needs. The rice, the rubber, the minerals, timber and petroleum of Indo-China, Burma, Siam and Malay must gleam before the eyes of the Peking government as the golden solution. With these resources under their control, the Chinese Communists would be able to accomplish without severe strain the gigantic task that may otherwise prove beyond their strength.

It is foolish, at this time, to conclude that the Communist high command is already planning an onslaught upon Southeast Asia, and has disentangled the Chinese armies from Korea for this but it is wrong to ignore this possibility. And it is very foolish to forget the pressures and temptations to which the future will expose the Chinese Communists.

If present tendencies continue, Southeast Asia will still be soft and virtually undefeated two years from now. Within this short time, meanwhile, Communist China will have built up military power that may still be rather primitive, but will certainly be immeasurably greater than any other military power in this area. In this same period also, the cruel difficulties of the task they have undertaken will no doubt come to loom even larger in the eyes of the Peking leadership.

Unchallengeable Chinese military power; an acutely painful problem in China; a wonderfully easy solution of that problem across undefended borders—such is likely to be an explosive combination in Asia in the rather near future. Any American policy that fails to take these converging trends into account does not deserve the name of national policy.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The most important happening in the world at the moment is the realistic change in British policy toward Communist imperialism occasioned by the sudden threat of Communists to take over control of British Guiana.

With a swiftness that used to be characteristic of the Colonel Blimps of British diplomacy in the old days, an aircraft carrier and three other warships and several hundred troops have been ordered to prevent the Communists from taking over the colonial government and establishing a dictatorship on the Northern coast of South America. The prime minister and five other cabinet officers in British Guiana have been booted out by the London government and a six-months old constitution has been scrapped.

Endorsed By U. S.

Now nobody in America is rising to propose a "non-aggression" pact between the British government in London and the Communists in British Guiana. Nor is there talk of "negotiation" rather than a show of force as the best way out. Indeed, nobody in the United States is expressing alarm that the British have been too "impulsive" or "impatient" and that this is the kind of thing that leads to "warmongering" or enlargement of the "cold war."

On the contrary the United States government, with a deep-seated belief in the importance of maintaining good faith in alliances, has promptly endorsed the British action and has notified all Latin-American governments that such endorsement has been given. That's unity with a capital "U."

Maybe the London government will appreciate what the United States government didn't do—as, for instance, rushing in to recognize the Red Government in British Guiana with an argument that, after all, the local government there exercises complete military control of the whole country and, therefore, is entitled to diplomatic recognition, as the British have argued in defense of their recognition of Red China.

Maybe Prime Minister Nehru of India will disagree with what has been done in British Guiana. He has a sentimental interest, because half the population of British Guiana came originally from India. The Asian leader, on the other hand, usually confines his epithets about "irresponsible government" to the South Korean regime. He never criticizes Moscow or Peiping, but aims his verbal bomb at the United States because it refuses to treat as a satellite the South Korean government, set up originally by the U. N., and regards it as an independent government which has made great sacrifices for freedom. The developments in British Guiana will certainly furnish a test of Nehru's consistency.

May Improve Relations

What has occasioned surprise here, however, is that the British government in London has itself risen so resolutely to the occasion and that it discovered before it was too late how Communists infiltrate a free country. The British evidently are not so much in need of a McCarthy, after all, as has been thought by some American observers, including this writer. For somehow the British government now has come to believe that the "left wing" People's Progressive party in British Guiana isn't just a political party but a treasonable conspiracy, and that to interfere with the sacred right of "free speech" and the right to "political beliefs" in such a situation is merely to assert the right of self-preservation for British rule as against a plotted rebellion.

Maybe now there will be less scoffing in Britain at so-called "witch-hunting" or "hysteria" in America and those "reckless Amerans" who insist on exposing a Communist plot long before it gets to the point of actually taking over a government. Certainly this concrete example in British Guiana of what Communist infiltration can do—when its activities are too long looked upon as merely "political beliefs" without regard to conspiratorial acts—will have a salutary effect throughout the world. It certainly vindicates the persistent efforts of the committees of Congress here in exposing Communist "methods." For, if the British government, known everywhere for its tolerance, cannot brook the treason of the Communist leaders in British Guiana, Britons can hardly sneer at the American attitude toward Communist conspiracies. It could lead to a decided improvement in British-American relations.

Grand Jurors Indict Woman

An elderly woman has been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill her husband.

She is Mrs. Emma E. Smith, 62, of the Winchester Road section, who allegedly shot her husband, Harry W. Smith, 62, with a .22 caliber rifle on September 16 at their home.

At the time of the shooting the case was investigated by Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police. He said that Smith came home about 9 p. m. in an intoxicated condition. His wife locked the door and warned him to stay out.

When Smith went to the rear of the house Mrs. Smith took a .22 rifle which had a number of shells with small shot inside. She fired the gun at her husband and the small shot struck him i the face. He was treated at Memorial Hospital. The small shot in the .22 caliber shells is used in killing birds and small game, according to police.

Mrs. Smith furnished $1,000 bond Saturday and was released until the criminal court starting Monday, October 19, in Circuit Court.

Dramatic Group To Be Formed

A dramatic group will be organized here Wednesday night under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department.

Harold C. Wickard, Allegany High School instructor, will direct the group which is to be formed Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall. Wickard has directed more than 100 amateur stage productions here.

The surprising development, according to Pence, is the large number of new residents of Cumberland who are interested in formation of a theatre group. Last local stage organization here was Theatregate, supervised by Erica Donovan. Prior to that the Town Hall Players provided stage attractions for the area.

Three Week Vacation Policy Is Adopted For City Staffs

Employes in classified city service will get 15 working days with pay after one year's service under an ordinance defining vacations passed by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The ordinance is the result of regulation of minimum vacation periods for employes by the General Assembly. This has resulted in employes in some departments getting more vacation than others.

The new ordinance specifies all employes (hourly or monthly rated) get 15 days with pay after one year of compensated service. There can be no accumulation of vacation and seniority will be taken into consideration when choosing the time for vacation.

Effective during the 1954-55 fiscal year, it calls upon each department to adopt a uniform system for computing the period during which vacation privileges accrue.

Payrolls of each department must indicate the number of vacation days allowed during each pay period.

Passage of the declaration of policy, officials said, means that all regular city employes will get three full weeks of paid vacation each year.

Previously, hourly rated employs were granted 15 working days of vacation—three weeks. Staff workers got 15 days' vacation — two weeks and a day.

Mayor Roy W. Eves reported yesterday the Maryland Municipal League has advised that six cities of Maryland give their employes 15 days of paid vacation.

In other action, council approved issuance Thursday of checks to employes for the first two weeks of the month.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, was authorized to advertise for bids for a motorized, hand-operated leaf collector for Constitution Park.

A check for $7,522.56 was ordered paid the George Construction Company as a fourth estimate for construction of the Bedford Street Sewage Ejector Station.

South Cumberland Business Men's Association asked council to consider a donation toward its annual Halloween celebration later this month in South End.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, reporting on the complaint of Wilbur E. Flake, 707 Glenmore Street, about television interference said corrective action has been taken by Potomac Television Company. The FCC worked with the company he said and Flake has reported improvement in reception.

Nuzum also revealed that maps and copies of the alternate plan to the crosstown bridge as proposed by Albert S. Paye have been forwarded to the State Roads Commission with a request that the group study and report to the council.

County Attorney Gets New Post

PARSONS, W. Va.—J. Pat Nichols, prosecuting attorney for Tucker County, was unanimously appointed as commissioner of accounts for Tucker County by the Tucker County Commissioners at their meeting held in Parsons. Nichols was appointed to fill a vacancy now existing in the county.

Mrs. Ruth Williams was appointed as secretary in the county agent's office to fill the vacancy due to the resignation of Mrs. Sue Ann McDonald, the former Sue Ann Flabafab, who resigned to join her husband in Baltimore, Md.

The members made their inspection of the county jail for the quarter and found the building neat and orderly and the prisoners being properly cared for and offered no recommendations.

Mrs. Alms Burner appeared before the court requesting the heating condition of the Department of Public Assistance rooms be remedied.

Home Furnishings Store Opens Here

Warhaft's Home Furnishings Store, 79 North Centre Street, opened yesterday and in addition to free gifts to visitors is featuring a number of specials.

The new store is equipped to provide home furnishing needs and also offers a custom decorating service.

The new business venture is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Al Warhaft, 333 Mountain View Terrace. Mrs. Warhaft is the former Alice Jean Borgman, this city.

Warhaft has had long experience in the home furnishing field. For about two years he was with Rosenbaum's here when the F. P. Brown Company leased the drapery and floor covering department. Later he went to a Brown Company store in Holyoke, Mass., for about a year and a half. Originally from Winnepeg, Canada, Warhaft also had engaged in the home furnishing business there.

Police Department Makes 621 Arrests

The Police Department made 621 arrests and collected fines totaling $915 during September, Commissioner John J. Long reported to the Council yesterday.

He said the Fire Department answered 23 calls, which resulted in minor fire damage.

The report noted that Officer George Furstenburg was suspended for three days for failing to report for duty on September 20.

Council granted Officer Walter P. Crabtree permission to work another year on the Police Department.

City Passes Refrigerator Ordinance

The Mayor and Council moved yesterday to rid the city of old ice box and refrigerator "death traps."

Passage of an ordinance yesterday morning recognized tragedies in other parts of the country where children have suffocated when caught in discarded appliances.

The ordinance requires that shap locks, catches or doors on the discarded boxes must be removed when they cannot be released from the inside.

Failure to comply with the statute makes the violator liable to a fine of from $5 to not more than $25.

The ordinance was prepared by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, at the request of Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan.

The city will also help citizens to get rid of any of the containers which happen to be on their properties.

Plans for free collections of the abandoned boxes will be announced later, officials said yesterday.

Mayor Roy W. Eves announced that beginning next week an opening prayer will be offered at the council session. The action is the result of an offer by the Cumberland Ministerial Association. Council last week approved the interdenominational invocations.

Several reports were read and filed.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, listed seven communicable diseases, 161 births and 50 deaths in his report for September.

Commanders Of Co. G To Be Honored

A gathering of former members of Cumberland's Company G, National Guard unit that saw service on the Mexican Border and in the two World Wars, is being planned here for next month.

A party will be held honoring former company commanders of the National Guard unit at a place and date to be announced later.

The reunion is being sponsored by William C. Kirby Post 70, 29th Division Association, with Raymond Whitehair and James C. McGee as co-chairmen of the committee which has as members H. Frank Hinze, Charles R. Whitney, Walter M. Fuller and Lynn Thorpe.

Company G was organized in 1913 in Cumberland and in 1916 was called to service on the Mexican Border.

A year later Company G as a unit of the 29th Division was summoned into federal service, seeing battle action in France in 1918.

As a peacetime National Guard company between two wars the unit won several state and national prizes.

Federalized in January 1941, the company went to England, in the 115th Infantry Regiment, participated in the invasion of Normandy and went into Germany.

After the war, Company G disbanded and upon reorganization Company C and Headquarters Company of the First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, were located here.

The gathering will be the first reunion of Company G members since the end of World War II.

The event will be for all former members.

Grand Jurors Indict Woman

An elderly woman has been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill her husband.

She is Mrs. Emma E. Smith, 62, of the Winchester Road section, who allegedly shot her husband, Harry W. Smith, 62, with a .22 caliber rifle on September 16 at their home.

At the time of the shooting the case was investigated by Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police. He said that Smith came home about 9 p. m. in an intoxicated condition. His wife locked the door and warned him to stay out.

When Smith went to the rear of the house Mrs. Smith took a .22 rifle which had a number of shells with small shot inside. She fired the gun at her husband and the small shot struck him i the face. He was treated at Memorial Hospital. The small shot in the .22 caliber shells is used in killing birds and small game, according to police.

Mrs. Smith furnished $1,000 bond Saturday and was released until the criminal court starting Monday, October 19, in Circuit Court.

Three Week Vacation Policy Is Adopted For City Staffs

Employes in classified city service will get 15 working days with pay after one year's service under an ordinance defining vacations passed by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The ordinance is the result of regulation of minimum vacation periods for employes by the General Assembly. This has resulted in employes in some departments getting more vacation than others.

The new ordinance specifies all employes (hourly or monthly rated) get 15 days with pay after one year of compensated service. There can be no accumulation of vacation and seniority will be taken into consideration when choosing the time for vacation.

Effective during the 1954-55 fiscal year, it calls upon each department to adopt a uniform system for computing the period during which vacation privileges accrue.

Payrolls of each department must indicate the number of vacation days allowed during each pay period.

Passage of the declaration of policy, officials said, means that all regular city employes will get three full weeks of paid vacation each year.

Previously, hourly rated employs were granted 15 working days of vacation—three weeks. Staff workers got 15 days' vacation — two weeks and a day.

Mayor Roy W. Eves reported yesterday the Maryland Municipal League has advised that six cities of Maryland give their employes 15 days of paid vacation.

In other action, council approved issuance Thursday of checks to employes for the first two weeks of the month.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, was authorized to advertise for bids for a motorized, hand-operated leaf collector for Constitution Park.

A check for $7,522.56 was ordered paid the George Construction Company as a fourth estimate for construction of the Bedford Street Sewage Ejector Station.

South Cumberland Business Men's Association asked council to consider a donation toward its annual Halloween celebration later this month in South End.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, reporting on the complaint of Wilbur E. Flake, 707 Glenmore Street, about television interference said corrective action has been taken by Potomac Television Company. The FCC worked with the company he said and Flake has reported improvement in reception.

Nuzum also revealed that maps and copies of the alternate plan to the crosstown bridge as proposed by Albert S. Paye have been forwarded to the State Roads Commission with a request that the group study and report to the council.

PARSONS, W. Va.—J. Pat Nichols, prosecuting attorney for Tucker County, was unanimously appointed as commissioner of accounts for Tucker County by the Tucker County Commissioners at their meeting held in Parsons. Nichols was appointed to fill a vacancy now existing in the county.

Mrs. Ruth Williams was appointed as secretary in the county agent's office to fill the vacancy due to the resignation of Mrs. Sue Ann McDonald, the former Sue Ann Flabafab, who resigned to join her husband in Baltimore, Md.

The members made their inspection of the county jail for the quarter and found the building neat and orderly and the prisoners being properly cared for and offered no recommendations.

Mrs. Alms Burner appeared before the court requesting the heating condition of the Department of Public Assistance rooms be remedied.

Home Furnishings Store Opens Here

Warhaft's Home Furnishings Store, 79 North Centre Street, opened yesterday and in addition to free gifts to visitors is featuring a number of specials.

The new store is equipped to provide home furnishing needs and also offers a custom decorating service.

The new business venture is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Al Warhaft, 333 Mountain View Terrace. Mrs. Warhaft is the former Alice Jean Borgman, this city.

Warhaft has had long experience in the home furnishing field. For about two years he was with Rosenbaum's here when the F. P. Brown Company leased the drapery and floor covering department. Police Department Makes 621 Arrests

The Police Department made 621 arrests and collected fines totaling $915 during September, Commissioner John J. Long reported to the Council yesterday.

He said the Fire Department answered 23 calls, which resulted in minor fire damage.

The report noted that Officer George Furstenburg was suspended for three days for failing to report for duty on September 20.

Council granted Officer Walter P. Crabtree permission to work another year on the Police Department.

City Passes Refrigerator Ordinance

The Mayor and Council moved yesterday to rid the city of old ice box and refrigerator "death traps."

Passage of an ordinance yesterday morning recognized tragedies in other parts of the country where children have suffocated when caught in discarded appliances.

The ordinance requires that shap locks, catches or doors on the discarded boxes must be removed when they cannot be released from the inside.

Failure to comply with the statute makes the violator liable to a fine of from $5 to not more than $25.

The ordinance was prepared by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, at the request of Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan.

The city will also help citizens to get rid of any of the containers which happen to be on their properties.

Plans for free collections of the abandoned boxes will be announced later, officials said yesterday.

Mayor Roy W. Eves announced that beginning next week an opening prayer will be offered at the council session. The action is the result of an offer by the Cumberland Ministerial Association. Council last week approved the interdenominational invocations.

Several reports were read and filed.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, listed seven communicable diseases, 161 births and 50 deaths in his report for September.

Commanders Of Co. G To Be Honored

A gathering of former members of Cumberland's Company G, National Guard unit that saw service on the Mexican Border and in the two World Wars, is being planned here for next month.

A party will be held honoring former company commanders of the National Guard unit at a place and date to be announced later.

The reunion is being sponsored by William C. Kirby Post 70, 29th Division Association, with Raymond Whitehair and James C. McGee as co-chairmen of the committee which has as members H. Frank Hinze, Charles R. Whitney, Walter M. Fuller and Lynn Thorpe.

Company G was organized in 1913 in Cumberland and in 1916 was called to service on the Mexican Border.

A year later Company G as a unit of the 29th Division was summoned into federal service, seeing battle action in France in 1918.

As a peacetime National Guard company between two wars the unit won several state and national prizes.

Federalized in January 1941, the company went to England, in the 115th Infantry Regiment, participated in the invasion of Normandy and went into Germany.

After the war, Company G disbanded and upon reorganization Company C and Headquarters Company of the First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, were located here.

The gathering will be the first reunion of Company G members since the end of World War II.

The event will be for all former members.

William F. Broening, Twice Mayor Of Baltimore, Dies After Illness

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12 (AP)—A long illness brought death today to 83-year-old William F. Broening, twice mayor of Baltimore and for half a century a figure in Maryland politics.

He was the only Republican elected either mayor or state's attorney in the long span from 1900 to 1934.

He was elected to one term as mayor in 1919 and another in 1927. He served on the Baltimore City Council and was a delegate in the General Assembly, but he was defeated both times he ran for state office—attorney general in 1926 and governor in 1930.

When he was mayor he took on a young attorney named Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin as his secretary. McKeldin was elected mayor of Baltimore in 1943 and governor in 1950.

Broening's last public appearance was at McKeldin's inauguration in January of 1951. He had been in ill health for some time then. In March of 1952 he fell and broke a hip. Since then he had been confined to bed and wheelchair.

His father was a tailor who emigrated from Germany about two years before Broening was born in 1870. He started working in a coppersmith's shop but studied law at night in an elder brother's office, entered the University of Maryland law school and graduated two years later in 1897.

He started his political career the same year by running for the city council.

Survivors include the widow, a son, a daughter and a brother. Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday.

LaSalle Hosts St. Francis Prep Gridders Friday Night

Pennsy School Holds 3-1 Edge In Games Won

Blazers Test Campers Here Saturday; Fort Hill In Road Debut

Victorious in their last three games, LaSalle High School's Explorers are expecting one of their toughest tests of the current grid campaign Friday night when they tackle St Francis Prep of Spring Grove, Pa., at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

LaSalle has not faced the Pennsylvanians since 1950 but in the four games played by the schools St Francis has emerged the victor three times. In the 1930s LaSalle played several games with St. Francis High of Morgantown, W. Va., but did not open its grid series with St. Francis Prep until 1948. The Explorers won the opener, 20 to 6, but were defeated in 1947, 33 to 25, in 1949, 32 to 12, and in 1950, 19 to 7. When LaSalle first met St. Francis Prep the latter school was located at Loretto, Pa., but moved to Spring Grove in 1947.

Coach Norman F. Geatz, Jr., announced last night that his squad is in good shape for the important contest in which the Explorers will aim to equal their 1952 record of sweeping four in a row.

John Shelton, Jim Gaffney, Hubert Feeney and Eddie Diehl will officiate in Friday's contest.

AHS To Host Blazers

The second game here this weekend brings together Coach Roy Lester's Allegany High Campers and the Montgomery Blair High School Blazers of Silver Spring at the stadium Saturday night at 8.

Allegany holds a 2-1 edge in this series having won the 1950 and 1952 games, 33-19 and 20-19, while losing in 1951 by the score of 13-0.

Clash Ninth Time

This is the ninth game of a series that had its inception in 1937. The Hilltoppers have won six of the eight games played to date. Handley crushed Fort Hill in 1938 by the score of 40-0 while the 1941 games ended in a scoreless tie.

Three PVC games are on tap for Friday.

Franklin and Moorefield meet for the 26th time in Moorefield. The Yellow Jackets have won 16, Franklin has copped five and four games ended in ties. Moorefield has bagged eight in a row since the 0-0 game of 1944.

Hawks Visit Petersburg

Ridgeley invades Petersburg and West Virginia School for the Deaf is at Circleville in the other conference tests.

Keyser will host the Alumni on Friday.

Romney High's Pioneers will be shooting for win No. 6 when they battle Beall High at Frostburg Saturday afternoon.

Bruce To Battle Flintstone High

Beall Plays Valley Today At Barton

Bruce High School's winless defending champions will test the undefeated Flintstone High School booters in today's feature contest in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League at Westernport at 3:30 o'clock.

The Westernport eleven dropped its first two starts to Valley High of Lonaconing, 2-0, and Mt. Savage, 4-3, while Flintstone, coached by Orville Jackson are in first place as a result of wins over Beall, 4-0, and Valley High, 3-2.

Beall High (1-1) and Valley High (2-1) are slated to tangle today at 2:30 o'clock at Barton.

Cecil Warnick will officiate in the Beall-Valley High tilt while Bob Thomas will be the referee for the Flintstone-Bruce contest.

McGeady And Loibel Set K-C Dux Records

Two new records were established in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League last night on the Club Recreation alleys as the Guards swept three games from the Grand Knights and the Recorders captured two out of three from the Chancellors.

The record for high set was broken by Tom McGeady who turned in a score of 535. Another record was set up by Jack Loibel Jr., who registered a high single game of 235 to beat Joe Felten's 222.

Other high scores were credited to Joe Felten of the Guards with 518 and Raymond "Ike" Law, Grand Knights, 208-468. The standings:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Guards	12	3	.800
Recorders	8	7	.533
Grand Knights	6	9	.400
Chancellors	4	11	.267

Annex Tennis Titles

SPORT SLANTS

Iames Is Fairfax Pro — Tigers Name Brehany — Neun Scouted Dodgers — Pinch-Hit For Krimm

By C. V. BURNS

RICHARD "Dick" Iames, who got his start in golf as a caddy at the Cumberland Country Club, is the new pro at the Court House Country Club in Fairfax, Va., according to Carroll Boggs, CCC professional.

Dick Iames

Fairfax is about 15 miles from Washington D. C., and gets a terrific play from golfers who reside in the capital.

Boggs believes that Iames, now 24, has a wonderful future in golf.

"Dick" was Boggs' assistant at the CCC in 1945, 1946 and 1947, joined the Marines then became assistant to Ralph Leasure at Bedford, Pa., after getting his discharge from the service. After serving another hitch with the Marines he returned to the Cumberland Country Club as assistant. From there he went to the Bonnie View Country Club, Baltimore, as assistant to Cosmo Tiso.

In June he tied the course record here by posting a 62 while playing in a foursome with Boggs, Don Saylor, assistant to Max Elbin at the Burning Tree Country Club, Washington, D. C., and Woody Harner, of the Fountain Head Country Club, Hagerstown.

Mrs. Harry Campbell, of LaVale, is the mother of "Dick" Iames.

IN THE RECENT pro-amateur tournament at the Congressional Country Club, Washington, D. C., Don Saylor collected $100 by tying for third place with a 71. Fifty pros participated in the tourney.

Saylor served as assistant to Boggs before moving on to Burning Tree as Elbin's aide.

JOE BREHANEY, native of Nikep, who scouted for the Pittsburgh Pirates for many years and conducted tryout camps for the Buccos, is now back in major league baseball as scout for the Detroit Tigers. His invory hunting duties will be confined to the Pittsburgh area. He resides at Aliquippa, Pa.

We bumped into Joe at the New York Yankees' dinner for the press at the Biltmore Hotel during the World Series. He was at the same table with Jimmy "Rip" Collins, one-time Middle Atlantic League star, who was with the Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals in the days of the "Gas House Gang" and Irving "Rabbit" Jacobson, of Elizabeth, N. J., who scouts for the Detroit Tigers in the Skeeter State. Jacobson was an outfielder with Johnstown in the early days of the Middle Atlantic League.

Collins is now in charge of the sale of baseball equipment for the Wilson Sporting Goods Company, Chicago and is in demand as a dinner speaker. "Rip" is a topnotch story teller and his series about the "Gas House Gang" when he, Frankie Frisch, Leo Durocher and "Pepper" Martin comprised the infield and Paul and "Dizzy" Dean were the pitchers are really interesting.

It was through Collins we had the pleasure of meeting Floyd "Babe" Herman, one-time Brooklyn slugger and National League batting champion. "Babe" is now scouting for the Yankees on the Pacific Coast. Herman's son is pitching minor league ball on the West Coast and struck out 16 batsmen in a game last month. The "Babe" recalled the days he was with the Dodgers and referred to the late Wilbert "Uncle Robbie" Robinson as the best manager he ever played for.

G. WILLIAM BIBBY, president of the Cumberland Brewing Company, should get a good kick out of this one.

Sheriff Fowble, well known Baltimore basketball referee, who scouts for Cincinnati, introduced us to William "Bill" McKechnie Jr., and we told him that we recalled the year he came down from Penn State College to play first base for the Frostburg Demons.

"Oh yes, I remember Frostburg," McKechnie declared. "Isn't that the place where mountain water makes the difference?"

McKechnie is the son of the Boston Red Sox coach and former major league manager. Bill, Jr., is now supervisor of farm clubs for the Cincinnati Reds.

IT WAS THROUGH Fowble that we made the acquaintance of Dick Porter, one-time slugging outfielder of the Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians. Porter resides on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

THE TOP BRASS of baseball, namely, Will Harridge, Warren Giles, Dan Topping, Hank Greenberg, Casey Stengel, Charley Dressen, etc., were at the Biltmore to rub elbows with the press. It's a real sociable gathering and there's lots of fun.

Johnny Neun, who refereed soccer and basketball games in the W.M.I. League back in the early 1920s, is one of the Yankees' most highly respected scouts. Johnny is still the same friendly person we first met thirty years ago and he is a member of the group which "Bucky" Harris calls "the best scouting system in the majors."

Neun scouted the Dodgers prior to the series and you know who won it.

It was the 11th World Series we had attended. In eight of the series we saw the Yankees in action and they won 'em all beating the Dodgers five times, the Cubs, Giants and Phillies once each. Those Yankees are terrific.

WHILE IN NEW YORK last week we paid a visit to Belmont Park to help improve the breed.

Belmont Park on Long Island is the largest and most impressive of New York race tracks where once the horses ran the English or "wrong way" around. They were running the right way the day we were there but in the wrong places at the finish line.

Lou Walger is the director of wagering at Belmont Park and other New York tracks. He's a Baltimorean and got his start under the late Mortimer J. Mahony, Fairgo's first mutuel manager, and father of Riggs Mahony, who has directed wagering at the Cumberland track the past several years.

DEATH of Harold Krimm, 50, in Paris, France, last week, brought back memories of the days when we launched our newspaper career with the old Daily News on Baltimore Street.

We were scoring local amateur baseball games 33 years ago when Krimm, then a member of the News staff, appointed the writer to substitute for him in covering the Cumberland Colts on Sundays at South End Park. "Hank" Hayward later put me on the staff which included Somerville Nicholson, Garland Magruder, Isaac Love and Krimm.

Krimm is among the many fine members of the Fourth Estate who have passed on since we made our debut in 1921.

Klein Scores Over Casillo

New Yorker Victor By Split Decision

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—Joey Klein, New York, won a 10-round split decision over Rocky Casillo, Chicago tonight at the Eastern Parkway Arena. Both weighed 147.

Judge Joe Agnello scored it 7-3 in favor of Klein and Judge Nat Cooper had it 6-4 for Klein. Referee Mark Conn ruled the fight 5-5 and gave each fighter six points calling the fight a draw.

Casillo, an 8½-5 favorite at the "house of upsets" in his first New York appearance, started off strong with a rushing attack. Klein staggered the Chicago welterweight in the third with a right hand to the jaw. Klein had Casillo's nose bleeding from the third round to the end of the fight.

"Sonny" Valentine, John Rice, Donnie Hammersmith and Howard Benson accounted for the four touchdowns while "Buddy" Clark kicked the three extra points.

The Little Sentinels scored twice in the second period on a 26-yard end run by Valentine and "Buddy" Clark's pass to John Rice that was good for 20 yards. Hammersmith scored in the third period, toting the ball over from the ten. A 20-yard pass from Galen McGregor to Howard Benson who sprinted the final 26 yards produced the Little Sentinels' final score in the last quarter.

Fort Hill had beaten LaSalle 27-6 and Keyser 12-0 in previous games this season.

The winners gained 99 net yards rushing, picked up 99 yards on two passes in three attempts and racked up four first downs. Allegany Beats Keyser Jayvees By Score 12-0

Ed Cecil Makes Both TDs In Initial Tilt

Eddie Cecil scored both touchdowns yesterday as Coach Jim Hosack's Allegany High School Jayvees opened their football season with a 12-0 victory over Keyser High School's junior varsity eleven at Keyser.

The Little Campers racked up both scores in the opening period. Cecil registered his first TD on a 60-yard gallop. Allegany recovered a Keyser fumble that set up the second score. Cecil covered 30 yards on an end run to reach pay dirt.

Allegany reeled off seven first downs to Keyser's three, gained 175 yards rushing and intercepted three of the nine passes attempted by the home team. Keyser collected three first downs, completed two of nine aerials, fumbled seven times and was limited to 50 yards on ground plays.

LaSalle will play Allegany's Jayvees Wednesday at 4 p. m. at Campobello.

FT. BENNING, Ga., Oct. 12 (AP)—A 23-year-old lieutenant from Iowa died at Ft. Benning Hospital of a head injury received last week in a practice scrimmage with the 508th Red Devils football team, the public information office said today.

He was identified as 2nd Lt. William F. Wilson, of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

Forty Niners Lose Tittle

Quarterback Suffers Fractured Cheekbone

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (AP)—The football hopes of the San Francisco 49ers were jolted today with the announcement that passing star Y.A. Tittle will miss two or three games because of a severely fractured cheekbone.

The 49ers' veteran quarterback was injured Sunday when his team lost to the Detroit Lions, 24-21.

Dr. Richard A. Thompson operated on Tittle this morning in Detroit Osteopathic Hospital for a tri-facial fracture of the right cheekbone. He said Tittle would leave the hospital Sunday and estimated he'd miss two or three games.

This comes as a serious blow to San Francisco's chances in the Western Division of the National League because they don't have a player of Tittle's calibre or experience to replace him.

Tittle was injured when he scored the 49ers' final touchdown in the third period which pulled them to within 24-21 of Detroit.

Bruce accounted for three of the five touchdowns scored by the Little Campers.

The next games scheduled in the Junior Division will be played on Thursday.

At East Side:

East Side	0	0	6	12	—18
Little Campers	6	12	0	12	—30

Charges Referee Caught Sleeping On Sleeper Play

Danowski Says Play Beat Fordham, 20-13

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Fordham football coach Ed Danowski charged today that the referee was asleep on the sleeper play which Syracuse pulled on the Rams Saturday to win, 20-13.

On the play, Syracuse, leading 13-7, got the ball on its own one-yard line late in the last quarter. Before Fordham realized it had lost the ball, Syracuse lined up quickly and, without a huddle, uncorked a surprise pass from its own end zone.

Quarterback Pat Stark, who pulled the play without the knowledge of Coach Ben Schwartzwalder, shifted to fullback, took the pass from center and threw to halfback Art Troilo, who went to the Fordham 29.

Six plays later Stark sneaked over for the touchdown which proved the difference in the game.

Failed To Check Teams

"After time out, officials are supposed to check with both teams before starting the clock again," Danowski said.

"They didn't ask our co-captain, Jack Hyatt, whether we were set. On fourth down and 12 to go for a touchdown, Vinnie Drake had carried to the four for us. But a roughness penalty against Syracuse moved the ball to the one and we thought we still had possession until they said the foul occurred after the ball was dead.

"One official was still talking to Hyatt when Syracuse started the pass play."

Used In Sandlot Days

Stark said he made up the play during the game, remembering it from his sandlot days.

"I explained it to the boys and told 'em we'd use it on the first play after Fordham kicked off following the score. I warned the ref, too. When Fordham lost the ball, I told the gang we'd use it then."

Referee of the game was George F. Hogan, who could not be reached immediately for comment.

"PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE GIVES YOUR CAR FULL 4-WAY PROTECTION

1. AGAINST freeze-ups in cold weather, boil-offs on warm days. One shot lasts all winter.
2. AGAINST rubber decay, radiator clogging, and pin-hole leaks developing from rust spots.
3. AGAINST corrosion of the cooling-system metals.
4. AGAINST foaming off and resulting loss of solution.

MECHANICALLY-MINDED CAR OWNERS...SERVICE MEN...ENGINEERS...

Save Trouble, Money... and Your Cars with these Simple Facts from the World's Largest Anti-freeze Laboratory

Most all-winter anti-freezes are made of glycols...high boiling-point, low freezing-point compounds. These properties prevent boil-off when the weather turns warm; prevent freeze-ups when the temperature drops. Thus, they do what alcohol can never do.

However, to make an ideal anti-freeze suitable for modern engines, glycols need 3 special additives:

1. A specially compounded oil inhibitor: (a) to form a microscopically-thin film over small rust spots which otherwise might break through and result in pin-hole leaks; (b) to lay any loose rust that may be in the cooling system, and keep it from circulating and thus plugging up the radiator; and (c) to plate out on rubber hose and seals, and thus to prevent the rotting of these parts by water penetration.

"PRESTONE" anti-freeze has this special oil inhibitor. It is not pretty in a test tube or a bottle, but it does a marvelous job of making rust stay put and of preventing pin-hole leaks. No anti-freeze without such an inhibitor can do these jobs.

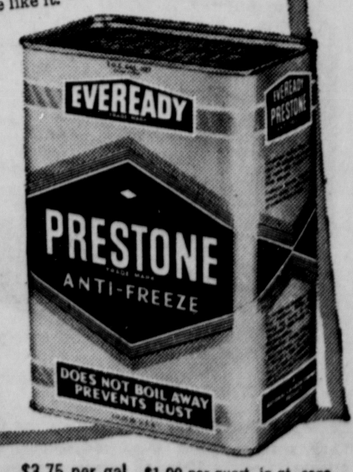

2. A chemical inhibitor to prevent corrosion of the cooling-system metals. Seven metals are commonly used in automobile cooling systems—cast iron, steel, copper, aluminum, brass, lead and tin (solder).

"PRESTONE" anti-freeze has this chemical inhibitor. It gives more protection over the full range of cooling-system metals than any other anti-freeze on the market.

3. An anti-foam to prevent the solution from foaming during fast driving, and thus spilling out through the over-flow pipe.

"PRESTONE" anti-freeze contains an anti-foam which is unsurpassed by that of any other anti-freeze.

The additives in "PRESTONE" anti-freeze are the result of thousands of tests by leading cooling-system engineers and research scientists in the laboratories of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation at Tonawanda, N. Y., world-headquarters for anti-freeze facts and cooling-system data. These laboratories are the authority for our statement that no other anti-freeze gives the same complete protection as "PRESTONE" anti-freeze. There are no substitutes of equal value. There is nothing else like it.

LaSalle Hosts St. Francis Prep Gridders Friday Night

Pennsy School Holds 3-1 Edge In Games Won

Blazers Test Campers Here Saturday; Fort Hill In Road Debut

Victorious in their last three games, LaSalle High School's Explorers are expecting one of their toughest tests of the current grid campaign Friday night when they tackle St Francis Prep of Spring Grove, Pa., at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

LaSalle has not faced the Pennsylvanians since 1950 but in the four games played by the schools St Francis has emerged the victor three times. In the 1930s LaSalle played several games with St. Francis High of Morgantown, W. Va., but did not open its grid series with St. Francis Prep until 1948. The Explorers won the opener, 20 to 6, but were defeated in 1947, 33 to 25, in 1949, 32 to 12, and in 1950, 19 to 7. When LaSalle first met St. Francis Prep the latter school was located at Loretto, Pa., but moved to Spring Grove in 1947.

Coach Norman F. Geatz, Jr., announced last night that his squad is in good shape for the important contest in which the Explorers will aim to equal their 1952 record of sweeping four in a row.

John Shelton, Jim Gaffney, Hubert Feeney and Eddie Diehl will officiate in Friday's contest.

AHS To Host Blazers

The second game here this weekend brings together Coach Roy Lester's Allegany High Campers and the Montgomery Blair High School Blazers of Silver Spring at the stadium Saturday night at 8.

Allegany holds a 2-1 edge in this series having won the 1950 and 1952 games, 33-19 and 20-19, while losing in 1951 by the score of 13-0.

Clash Ninth Time

This is the ninth game of a series that had its inception in 1937. The Hilltoppers have won six of the eight games played to date. Handley crushed Fort Hill in 1938 by the score of 40-0 while the 1941 games ended in a scoreless tie.

Three PVC games are on tap for Friday.

Franklin and Moorefield meet for the 26th time in Moorefield. The Yellow Jackets have won 16, Franklin has copped five and four games ended in ties. Moorefield has bagged eight in a row since the 0-0 game of 1944.

Hawks Visit Petersburg

Ridgeley invades Petersburg and West Virginia School for the Deaf is at Circleville in the other conference tests.

Keyser will host the Alumni on Friday.

Romney High's Pioneers will be shooting for win No. 6 when they battle Beall High at Frostburg Saturday afternoon.

Bruce To Battle Flintstone High

Beall Plays Valley Today At Barton

Bruce High School's winless defending champions will test the undefeated Flintstone High School booters in today's feature contest in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League at Westernport at 3:30 o'clock.

The Westernport eleven dropped its first two starts to Valley High of Lonaconing, 2-0, and Mt. Savage, 4-3, while Flintstone, coached by Orville Jackson are in first place as a result of wins over Beall, 4-0, and Valley High, 3-2.

Beall High (1-1) and Valley High (2-1) are slated to tangle today at 2:30 o'clock at Barton.

Cecil Warnick will officiate in the Beall-Valley High tilt while Bob Thomas will be the referee for the Flintstone-Bruce contest.

McGeady And Loibel Set K-C Dux Records

Two new records were established in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League last night on the Club Recreation alleys as the Guards swept three games from the Grand Knights and the Recorders captured two out of three from the Chancellors.

The record for high set was broken by Tom McGeady who turned in a score of 535. Another record was set up by Jack Loibel Jr., who registered a high single game of 235 to beat Joe Felten's 222.

Other high scores were credited to Joe Felten of the Guards with 518 and Raymond "Ike" Law, Grand Knights, 208-468. The standings:

Annex Tennis Titles

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 12 (AP) — United States champion Tony Trabert won the Pan American Tennis Championship today by defeating big Kurt Nielsen, the Danish Davis Cup ace, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1.

Iames Is Fairfax Pro — Tigers Name Brehany

Neun Scouted Dodgers — Pinch-Hit For Krimm

By C. V. BURNS

RICHARD "Dick" Iames, who got his start in golf as a caddy at the Cumberland Country Club, is the new pro at the Court House Country Club in Fairfax, Va., according to Carroll Boggs, CCC professional.

Dick Iames

Fairfax is about 15 miles from Washington D. C., and gets a terrific play from golfers who reside in the capital.

Boggs believes that Iames, now 24, has a wonderful future in golf.

"Dick" was Boggs' assistant at the CCC in 1945, 1946 and 1947, joined the Marines then became assistant to Ralph Leasure at Bedford, Pa., after getting his discharge from the service. After serving another hitch with the Marines he returned to the Cumberland Country Club as assistant. From there he went to the Bonnie View Country Club, Baltimore, as assistant to Cosmo Tiso.

In June he tied the course record here by posting a 62.. while playing in a foursome with Boggs, Don Saylor, assistant to Max Elbin at the Burning Tree Country Club, Washington, D. C., and Woody Harner, of the Fountain Head.. Country Club, Hagerstown.

Mrs. Harry Campbell, of LaVale, is the mother of "Dick" Iames.

IN THE RECENT pro-amateur tournament at the Congressional Country Club, Washington, D. C., Don Saylor collected $100 by tying for third place with a 71. Fifty pros participated in the tourney.

Saylor served as assistant to Boggs before moving on to Burning Tree as Elbin's aide.

JOE BREHANEY, native of Nikep, who scouted for the Pittsburgh Pirates for many years and conducted tryout camps for the Buccos, is now back in major league baseball as scout for the Detroit Tigers. His invory hunting duties will be confined to the Pittsburgh area. He resides at Aliquippa, Pa.

We bumped into Joe at the New York Yankees' dinner for the press at the Biltmore Hotel during the World Series. He was at the same table with Jimmy "Rip" Collins, one-time Middle Atlantic League star, who was with the Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals in the days of the "Gas House Gang" and Irving "Rabbit" Jacobson, of Elizabeth, N. J., who scouts for the Detroit Tigers in the Skeeter State. Jacobson was an outfielder with Johnstown in the early days of the Middle Atlantic League.

Collins is now in charge of the sale of baseball equipment for the Wilson Sporting Goods Company, Chicago and is in demand as a dinner speaker. "Rip" is a topnotch story teller and his series about the "Gas House Gang" when he, Frankie Frisch, Leo Durocher and "Pepper" Martin comprised the infield and Paul and "Dizzy" Dean were the pitchers are really interesting.

It was through Collins we had the pleasure of meeting Floyd "Babe" Herman, one-time Brooklyn slugger and National League batting champion. "Babe" is now scouting for the Yankees on the Pacific Coast. Herman's son is pitching minor league ball on the West Coast and struck out 16 batsmen in a game last month. The "Babe" recalled the days he was with the Dodgers and referred to the late Wilbert "Uncle Robbie" Robinson as the best manager he ever played for.

G. WILLIAM BIBBY, president of the Cumberland Brewing Company, should get a good kick out of this one.

Sheriff Fowble, well known Baltimore basketball referee, who scouts for Cincinnati, introduced us to William "Bill" McKechnie Jr., and we told him that we recalled the year he came down from Penn State College to play first base for the Frostburg Demons.

"Oh yes, I remember Frostburg," McKechnie declared. "Isn't that the place where mountain water makes the difference?"

McKechnie is the son of the Boston Red Sox coach and former major league manager. Bill, Jr., is now supervisor of farm clubs for the Cincinnati Reds.

IT WAS THROUGH Fowble that we made the acquaintance of Dick Porter, one-time slugging outfielder of the Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians. Porter resides on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

THE TOP BRASS of baseball, namely, Will Harridge, Warren Giles, Dan Topping, Hank Greenberg, Casey Stengel, Charley Dressen, etc., were at the Biltmore to rub elbows with the press. It's a real sociable gathering and there's lots of fun.

Johnny Neun, who refereed soccer and basketball games in the W.M.I. League back in the early 1920s, is one of the Yankees' most highly respected scouts. Johnny is still the same friendly person we first met thirty years ago and he is a member of the group which "Bucky" Harris calls "the best scouting system in the majors."

Neun scouted the Dodgers prior to the series and you know who won it.

It was the 11th World Series we had attended. In eight of the series we saw the Yankees in action and they won 'em all beating the Dodgers five times, the Cubs, Giants and Phillies once each. Those Yankees are terrific.

WHILE IN NEW YORK last week we paid a visit to Belmont Park to help improve the breed.

Belmont Park on Long Island is the largest and most impressive of New York race tracks where once the horses ran the English or "wrong way" around. They were running the right way the day we were there but in the wrong places at the finish line.

Lou Walger is the director of wagering at Belmont Park and other New York tracks. He's a Baltimorean and got his start under the late Mortimer J. Mahony, Fairgo's first mutuel manager, and father of Riggs Mahony, who has directed wagering at the Cumberland track the past several years.

DEATH of Harold Krimm, 50, in Paris, France, last week, brought back memories of the days when we launched our newspaper career with the old Daily News on Baltimore Street.

We were scoring local amateur baseball games 33 years ago when Krimm, then a member of the News staff, appointed the writer to substitute for him in covering the Cumberland Colts on Sundays at South End Park. "Hank" Hayward later put me on the staff which included Somerville Nicholson, Garland Magruder, Isaac Love and Krimm.

Krimm is among the many fine members of the Fourth Estate who have passed on since we made our debut in 1921.

Klein Scores Over Casillo

New Yorker Victor By Split Decision

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—Joey Klein, New York, won a 10-round split decision over Rocky Casillo, Chicago tonight at the Eastern Parkway Arena. Both weighed 147.

Judge Joe Agnello scored it 7-3 in favor of Klein and Judge Nat Cooper had it 6-4 for Klein. Referee Mark Conn ruled the fight 5-5 and gave each fighter six points calling the fight a draw.

Casillo, an 8½-5 favorite at the "house of upsets" in his first New York appearance, started off strong with a rushing attack. Klein staggered the Chicago welterweight in the third with a right hand to the jaw. Klein had Casillo's nose bleeding from the third round to the end of the fight.

"Sonny" Valentine, John Rice, Donnie Hammersmith and Howard Benson accounted for the four touchdowns while "Buddy" Clark kicked the three extra points.

The Little Sentinels scored twice in the second period on a 26-yard end run by Valentine and "Buddy" Clark's pass to John Rice that was good for 20 yards. Hammersmith scored in the third period, toting the ball over from the ten. A 20-yard pass from Galen McGregor to Howard Benson who sprinted the final 26 yards produced the Little Sentinels' final score in the last quarter.

Fort Hill had beaten LaSalle 27-6 and Keyser 12-0 in previous games this season.

The winners gained 99 net yards rushing, picked up 99 yards on two passes in three attempts and racked up four first downs. Allegany Beats Keyser Jayvees By Score 12-0

Ed Cecil Makes Both TDs In Initial Tilt

Eddie Cecil scored both touchdowns yesterday as Coach Jim Hosack's Allegany High School Jayvees opened their football season with a 12-0 victory over Keyser High School's junior varsity eleven at Keyser.

The Little Campers racked up both scores in the opening period. Cecil registered his first TD on a 60-yard gallop. Allegany recovered a Keyser fumble that set up the second score. Cecil covered 30 yards on an end run to reach pay dirt.

Allegany reeled off seven first downs to Keyser's three, gained 175 yards rushing and intercepted three of the nine passes attempted by the home team. Keyser collected three first downs, completed two of nine aerials, fumbled seven times and was limited to 50 yards on ground plays.

LaSalle will play Allegany's Jayvees Wednesday at 4 p. m. at Campobello.

He was identified as 2nd Lt. William F. Wilson, of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

Quarterback Suffers Fractured Cheekbone

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (AP)—The football hopes of the San Francisco 49ers were jolted today with the announcement that passing star Y.A. Tittle will miss two or three games because of a severely fractured cheekbone.

The 49ers' veteran quarterback was injured Sunday when his team lost to the Detroit Lions, 24-21.

Dr. Richard A. Thompson operated on Tittle this morning in Detroit Osteopathic Hospital for a tri-facial fracture of the right cheekbone. He said Tittle would leave the hospital Sunday and estimated he'd miss two or three games.

This comes as a serious blow to San Francisco's chances in the Western Division of the National League because they don't have a player of Tittle's calibre or experience to replace him.*

Tittle was injured when he scored the 49ers' final touchdown in the third period which pulled them to within 24-21 of Detroit.

Charges Referee Caught Sleeping On Sleeper Play

Danowski Says Play Beat Fordham, 20-13

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Fordham football coach Ed Danowski charged today that the referee was asleep on the sleeper play which Syracuse pulled on the Rams Saturday to win, 20-13.

On the play, Syracuse, leading 13-7, got the ball on its own one-yard line late in the last quarter. Before Fordham realized it had lost the ball, Syracuse lined up quickly and, without a huddle, uncorked a surprise pass from its own end zone.

Quarterback Pat Stark, who pulled the play without the knowledge of Coach Ben Schwartzwalder, shifted to fullback, took the pass from center and threw to halfback Art Troilo, who went to the Fordham 29.

Six plays later Stark sneaked over for the touchdown which proved the difference in the game.

Failed To Check Teams

"After time out, officials are supposed to check with both teams before starting the clock again," Danowski said.

"They didn't ask our co-captain, Jack Hyatt, whether we were set. On fourth down and 12 to go for a touchdown, Vinnie Drake had carried to the four for us. But a roughness penalty against Syracuse moved the ball to the one and we thought we still had possession until they said the foul occurred after the ball was dead.

Used In Sandlot Days

Stark said he made up the play during the game, remembering it from his sandlot days.

"I explained it to the boys and told 'em we'd use it on the first play after Fordham kicked off following the score. I warned the ref, too. When Fordham lost the ball, I told the gang we'd use it then."

Referee of the game was George F. Hogan, who could not be reached immediately for comment.

"PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE GIVES YOUR CAR
FULL 4-WAY PROTECTION

1 AGAINST freeze-ups in cold weather, boil-offs on warm days. One shot lasts all winter.
2 AGAINST rubber decay, radiator clogging, and pin-hole leaks developing from rust spots.
3 AGAINST corrosion of the cooling-system metals.

MECHANICALLY-MINDED CAR OWNERS...SERVICE MEN...ENGINEERS...

Save Trouble, Money... and Your Cars with these Simple Facts from the World's Largest Anti-freeze Laboratory

Most all-winter anti-freezes are made of glycols... high boiling-point, low freezing-point compounds. These properties prevent boil-off when the weather turns warm; prevent freeze-ups when the temperature drops. Thus, they do what alcohol can never do.

However, to make an ideal anti-freeze suitable for modern engines, glycols need 3 special additives:

1. A specially compounded oil inhibitor: (a) to form a microscopically-thin film over small rust spots which otherwise might break through and result in pin-hole leaks; (b) to lay any loose rust that may be in the cooling system, and keep it from circulating and thus plugging up the radiator; and (c) to plate out on rubber hose and seals, and thus to prevent the rotting of these parts by water penetration.

"PRESTONE" anti-freeze has this special oil inhibitor. It is not pretty in a test tube or a bottle, but it does a marvelous job of making rust stay put and of preventing pin-hole leaks. No anti-freeze without such an inhibitor can do these jobs.

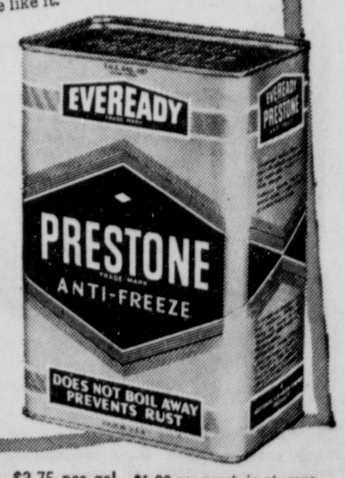

2. A chemical inhibitor to prevent corrosion of the cooling-system metals. Seven metals are commonly used in automobile cooling systems—cast iron, steel, copper, aluminum, brass, lead and tin (solder).

"PRESTONE" anti-freeze has this chemical inhibitor. It gives more protection over the full range of cooling-system metals than any other anti-freeze on the market.

3. An anti-foam to prevent the solution from foaming during fast driving, and thus spilling out through the over-flow pipe.

"PRESTONE" anti-freeze contains an anti-foam which is unsurpassed by that of any other anti-freeze.

The additives in "PRESTONE" anti-freeze are the result of thousands of tests by leading cooling-system engineers and research scientists in the laboratories of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation at Tonawanda, N. Y., world-headquarters for anti-freeze facts and cooling-system data. These laboratories are the authority for our statement that no other anti-freeze gives the same complete protection as "PRESTONE" anti-freeze. There are no substitutes of equal value. There is nothing else like it.

NBA Can't See Any Heavies In Rocky Marciano's Class

Bucceroni And Charles Rated Above LaStarza

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The National Boxing Asso. made it official today: There isn't a heavyweight fighter in Rocky Marciano's class.

For the first time since Joe Louis was in his heydey, the NBA left a big blank in the "logical contender" slot among the heavyweights.

The NBA's fall ratings gave the same vote of confidence to Jimmy Carter, the world lightweight champion. No logical contender was reported in sight in that division.

Roland LaStarza, who was right behind Marciano in the summer ratings, slumped to third place among the heavyweight division's outstanding boxers as a result of his TKO loss to the champion last month.

Moving ahead of LaStarza were Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia and former champion Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati. Nino Valdez of Cuba got a fourth place rating among the outstanding boxers.

The NBA issued ultimatums to two champions to defend their titles or risk losing their crowns. These warnings went to Archie Moore, the light-heavyweight champ, and Percy Bassett, who holds the interim featherweight title while titlist Sandy Saddler is in the Army.

Moore was told to fight Harold Johnson or else.

The ratings:

Heavyweight—Champion, Rocky Marciano, Massachusetts; logical contender, none available; outstanding boxers, Dan Bucceroni, Pennsylvania; Ezzard Charles, Ohio; Roland LaStarza, New York; Nino Valdez, Cuba.

Light-heavyweight — Champion, Archie Moore, Missouri; logical contender, Harold Johnson, Pennsylvania; outstanding boxers, Joey Maxim, Ohio; Yolande Pompey, British West Indies; Jim Slade, New York.

Middleweight—Title vacant; logical contenders, Randy Turpin, England and Carl Olson, Hawaii; outstanding boxers, Paddy Young, New York; Joey Giambra, New York; Charles Humez, France; Rocky Castellani, Pennsylvania, Holly Mims, Washington, Willie Troy, Washington.

Lightweight — Champion, Jimmy Carter, New York; logical contender none available; outstanding boxers, Wallace Smith, Ohio; Johnny Gonsalves, California; Orlando Zulueta, Cuba.

Featherweight — Champion Sandy Saddler, New York (in Army); logical contenders, Willie Pep, Connecticut; Red Top Davis, New York; Percy Bassett, Pennsylvania (interim champion).

Bantamweight — Champion, Jimmy Carruthers, Australia.

Flyweight — Champion, Yoshko Shirai, Japan.

Bucs Buy Pitchers From New Orleans

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12 (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates disclosed today the purchase of four pitchers conditionally from New Orleans in the Southern Association and the sale of an infielder to Denver of the Western League on the same basis.

The pitchers are righthanders Thomas Purkey of Pittsburgh, Nelson King of Lebanon, Pa.; Robert Mitchell Garber of Hunkers, Pa.; and southpaw Harry D. Pritts of Indian Head, Pa. Sold conditionally to Denver was infielder Sonny Senerchia.

Giants Buy Pitcher

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — The New York Giants today purchased their second minor league pitcher since the end of the 1953 baseball season, right hander Pete Modica from the Nashville Volunteers of the Southern Association.

Modica has been in the minors since his discharge from military service in 1946. He was used almost exclusively in relief roles during the past season at Nashville, compiling a 3-5 won-lost record and appearing in more than 20 winning games.

Olson Seeks KO Win

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 12 (AP)—Bobo Olson said today he won't be content to beat Randy Turpin on a decision when they meet for the middleweight championship Oct. 21, adding:

"I'm going to try to knock him out."

Olson said he never felt better in his life. He had a four round workout today in his 19th day of sparring for the Madison Square Garden bout.

Spartans Edge Maryland For Second Place

Mighty Notre Dame Holds Lead; Illinois Jumps To 9th Place

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Upsets took a severe toll of the nation's ranking college football teams last week-end. But mighty Notre Dame, which figured the Oct. 10 open date as the only cinch on its schedule, remained on top of the list.

Notre Dame's Irish benefited in a rather odd way from that gap in the schedule. They polled ten fewer votes for first place from the sports writers and broadcasters participating in the third weekly Associated Press ranking poll of the 1953 season, but they came up with a larger point total.

Only 74 of the 131 voters this week picked Notre Dame first. But there were enouth votes for other spots in the first ten to reach a total of 1,226 points on the usual 10-9-8 etc. basis. A week ago there were 84 first place votes for Notre Dame and 1,190 points.

Meanwhile Ohio State, one of the leading contenders, was the victim of a stunning upset at the hands of under-rated Illinois 41-20 and Michigan State teetered on the verge of another before beating Texas Christian 26-19.

Spartans Edge Maryland

As a result, Michigan State's Spartans were barely able to hold onto second place in the rankings, edging out Maryland by 16 points, and Ohio State tumbled from third place to a tie for 17th. Maryland moved into third place after an impressive 40-13 victory over Georgia, its fourth straight.

Maryland drew more first place votes than Michigan State, 21-14, but the final count gave the Spartans 977 points to Maryland's 961. UCLA, which blanked Wisconsin 13-0 Friday night, jumped from sixth place to fourth and Georgia Tech, 27-13 winner over Tulane, from tenth to sixth.

West Virginia Is 10th

Michigan held fifth; Duke and Baylor each moved up a notch to seventh and eighth, respectively. Two newcomers to the first ten were Illinois and West Virginia.

Notre Dame returns to action next Saturday against Pittsburgh; Michigan State takes on Indiana and Maryland plays unbeaten North Carolina.

The top ten (first place votes in parentheses)

1.	Notre Dame (74)	1226
2.	Michigan State (14)	977
3.	Maryland (21)	961
4.	UCLA (8)	755
5.	Michigan	537
6.	Georgia Tech	490
7.	Duke (3)	485
8.	Baylor	397
9.	Illinois	284
10.	West Virginia (9)	181

The second ten: 11. Rice 170; 12. Oklahoma (1) 152; 13. Southern California 148; 14. Navy 53; 15. Pittsburgh 45; 16. California 44; 17-18 (tied) Ohio State and Mississippi Southern (1) 42 each; 19. Auburn 37; 20. Mississippi State 36.

Others receiving 10 or more points: Holy Cross 35; Southern Methodist 23; Louisiana State 21.

Trainer Bond's Big Night, Ladd Win At Pimlico

Cop Both Divisions Of Breeders' Stakes

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 12 (AP) — Jockey Bobby Stevenson and Trainer Bowes Bond took both divisions of the Pimlico Breeders' Stakes today before an opening day crowd of 13,071.

The Jockey-trainer combination scored with Mrs. Samuel Pistorio's Big Night in the first half of the races for 2-year-old Maryland breds. They came back with Jouett Shouse's Ladd in the next race.

Big Night scored a mild upset and paid $8.40, $3.00 and $2.60.

Big Night ran the three-quarters of a mile in 1:12 4-5, two-fifths of a second faster than Ladd.

While Big Night won all the way by 2½ lengths, Ladd came from next to last in the field of eight to register by three lengths.

Howell E. Jackson's Life Jacket was a surprising runnerup to Ladd and paid $38.80 for second.

Big Night's victory was worth $6,825 and Ladd's $6,975.

Big Night, a brown daughter of Radiate 2nd, made it look ridiculously easy over the favored Alakatch. Jockey Bobby Stevenson sent her running from the start and soon opened up a lead of several lengths which never was endangered.

Four more stakes will be crowded in the next 11 days of racing at Pimlico. Two-year-old fillies go in the $10,000 Marguerite Stakes on Wednesday and the juveniles also will be starred in Saturday's futurity.

The big climax on Saturday, Oct. 24, is the $50,000 special for which Mrs. B. F. Whitaker's Grecian Queen today accepted an invitation. The 3-year-old filly is the sixth probable starter. The others are the 4-year-old sensation, Greentree's Tom Fool, Royal Vale, Alerted, Canadiana and Spinning Top.

NBA Can't See Any Heavies In Rocky Marciano's Class

Bucceroni And Charles Rated Above LaStarza

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The National Boxing Asso. made it official today: There isn't a heavyweight fighter in Rocky Marciano's class.

For the first time since Joe Louis was in his heydey, the NBA left a big blank in the "logical contender" slot among the heavyweights.

The NBA's fall ratings gave the same vote of confidence to Jimmy Carter, the world lightweight champion. No logical contender was reported in sight in that division.

Roland LaStarza, who was right behind Marciano in the summer ratings, slumped to third place among the heavyweight division's outstanding boxers as a result of his TKO loss to the champion last month.

Moving ahead of LaStarza were Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia and former champion Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati. Nino Valdez of Cuba got a fourth place rating among the outstanding boxers.

The NBA issued ultimatums to two champions to defend their titles or risk losing their crowns. These warnings went to Archie Moore, the light-heavyweight champ, and Percy Bassett, who holds the interim featherweight title while titlist Sandy Saddler is in the Army.

Bantamweight — Champion, Jimmy Carruthers, Australia.

Flyweight — Champion, Yoshko Shirai, Japan.

Bucs Buy Pitchers From New Orleans

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12 (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates disclosed today the purchase of four pitchers conditionally from New Orleans in the Southern Association and the sale of an infielder to Denver of the Western League on the same basis.

The pitchers are righthanders Thomas Purkey of Pittsburgh, Nelson King of Lebanon, Pa.; Robert Mitchell Garber of Hunkers, Pa.; and southpaw Harry D. Pritts of Indian Head, Pa. Sold conditionally to Denver was infielder Sonny Senerchia.

Giants Buy Pitcher

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — The New York Giants today purchased their second minor league pitcher since the end of the 1953 baseball season, right hander Pete Modica from the Nashville Volunteers of the Southern Association.

Modica has been in the minors since his discharge from military service in 1946. He was used almost exclusively in relief roles during the past season at Nashville, compiling a 3-5 won-lost record and appearing in more than 20 winning games.

Olson Seeks KO Win

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 12 (AP)—Bobo Olson said today he won't be content to beat Randy Turpin on a decision when they meet for the middleweight championship Oct. 21, adding:

"I'm going to try to knock him out."

Spartans Edge Maryland For Second Place

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Upsets took a severe toll of the nation's ranking college football teams last week-end. But mighty Notre Dame, which figured the Oct. 10 open date as the only cinch on its schedule, remained on top of the list.

Notre Dame's Irish benefited in a rather odd way from that gap in the schedule. They polled ten fewer votes for first place from the sports writers and broadcasters participating in the third weekly Associated Press ranking poll of the 1953 season, but they came up with a larger point total.

Only 74 of the 131 voters this week picked Notre Dame first. But there were enouth votes for other spots in the first ten to reach a total of 1,226 points on the usual 10-9-8 etc. basis. A week ago there were 84 first place votes for Notre Dame and 1,190 points.

Meanwhile Ohio State, one of the leading contenders, was the victim of a stunning upset at the hands of under-rated Illinois 41-20 and Michigan State teetered on the verge of another before beating Texas Christian 26-19.

Spartans Edge Maryland

As a result, Michigan State's Spartans were barely able to hold onto second place in the rankings, edging out Maryland by 16 points, and Ohio State tumbled from third place to a tie for 17th. Maryland moved into third place after an impressive 40-13 victory over Georgia, its fourth straight.

Maryland drew more first place votes than Michigan State, 21-14, but the final count gave the Spartans 977 points to Maryland's 961. UCLA, which blanked Wisconsin 13-0 Friday night, jumped from sixth place to fourth and Georgia Tech, 27-13 winner over Tulane, from tenth to sixth.

West Virginia Is 10th

Michigan held fifth; Duke and Baylor each moved up a notch to seventh and eighth, respectively. Two newcomers to the first ten were Illinois and West Virginia.

Notre Dame returns to action next Saturday against Pittsburgh; Michigan State takes on Indiana and Maryland plays unbeaten North Carolina.

The top ten (first place votes in parentheses)

1.	Notre Dame (74)	1226
2.	Michigan State (14)	977
3.	Maryland (21)	961
4.	UCLA (8)	755
5.	Michigan	537
6.	Georgia Tech	490
7.	Duke (3)	485
8.	Baylor	397
9.	Illinois	284
10.	West Virginia (9)	181

The second ten: 11. Rice 170; 12. Oklahoma (1) 152; 13. Southern California 148; 14. Navy 53; 15. Pittsburgh 45; 16. California 44; 17-18 (tied) Ohio State and Mississippi Southern (1) 42 each; 19. Auburn 37; 20. Mississippi State 36.

Others receiving 10 or more points: Holy Cross 35; Southern Methodist 23; Louisiana State 21.

Trainer Bond's Big Night, Ladd Win At Pimlico

Cop Both Divisions Of Breeders' Stakes

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 12 (AP) — Jockey Bobby Stevenson and Trainer Bowes Bond took both divisions of the Pimlico Breeders' Stakes today before an opening day crowd of 13,071.

The Jockey-trainer combination scored with Mrs. Samuel Pistorio's Big Night in the first half of the races for 2-year-old Maryland breds. They came back with Jouett Shouse's Ladd in the next race.

Big Night scored a mild upset and paid $8.40, $3.00 and $2.60.

Big Night ran the three-quarters of a mile in 1:12 4-5, two-fifths of a second faster than Ladd.

While Big Night won all the way by 2½ lengths, Ladd came from next to last in the field of eight to register by three lengths.

Big Night's victory was worth $6,825 and Ladd's $6,975.

Big Night, a brown daughter of Radiate 2nd, made it look ridiculously easy over the favored Alakatch. Jockey Bobby Stevenson sent her running from the start and soon opened up a lead of several lengths which never was endangered.

Four more stakes will be crowded in the next 11 days of racing at Pimlico. Two-year-old fillies go in the $10,000 Marguerite Stakes on Wednesday and the juveniles also will be starred in Saturday's futurity.

The big climax on Saturday, Oct. 24, is the $50,000 special for which Mrs. B. F. Whitaker's Grecian Queen today accepted an invitation. The 3-year-old filly is the sixth probable starter. The others are the 4-year-old sensation, Greentree's Tom Fool, Royal Vale, Alerted, Canadiana and Spinning Top.

Addition To Home For Aged At Hagerstown Is Planned

Washington Co. Man Gives Funds In Will

By A. VERNON DAVIS
Morning Herald Staffer

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 11 (AP)—Construction will start soon on a major expansion of facilities at a home for the aged supported by 57 congregations of the Church of the Brethren in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

The 57 churches currently are raising funds to pay for a general renovation of the present buildings. The modernization is already well underway. An all-electric kitchen has been added and soon will go into operation. All rooms for guests are to be reconditioned.

The big new addition, which will provide room for 33 more aged persons, was made possible by the will of Clarence Keedy, a Washington County man who left a sizeable fund for establishment of a home for aged gentlemen.

The new building, which soon will be started, will not only provide room for 33 more guests, but will contain an 11-bed health unit with the latest in medical equipment.

Started in 1905 as a Church of the Brethren home for the aged, the buildings that make up the institution were donated by the grandson of a popular Washington County doctor of yesteryear, Dr. Peter Fahrney, a man of German descent.

Malcolm A. Long of Baltimore is president of the board of trustees.

The 57 churches in central and eastern Maryland and the District of Columbia that support the home appoint members to its board.

Addition To Home For Aged At Hagerstown Is Planned

Washington Co. Man Gives Funds In Will

By A. VERNON DAVIS
Morning Herald Staffer

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 11 (AP)—Construction will start soon on a major expansion of facilities at a home for the aged supported by 57 congregations of the Church of the Brethren in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

A two-story brick and steel building is to be joined to the south wing of existing buildings at the Fahrney-Keedy Memorial Home near here.

The 57 churches currently are raising funds to pay for a general renovation of the present buildings. The modernization is already well underway. An all-electric kitchen has been added and soon will go into operation. All rooms for guests are to be reconditioned.

The big new addition, which will provide room for 33 more aged persons, was made possible by the will of Clarence Keedy, a Washington County man who left a sizeable fund for establishment of a home for aged gentlemen.

Last year a consolidation was made with trustees of the Keedy fund joining forces with trustees of the Fahrney Memorial Home.

The new building, which soon will be started, will not only provide room for 33 more guests, but will contain an 11-bed health unit with the latest in medical equipment.

Started in 1905 as a Church of the Brethren home for the aged, the buildings that make up the institution were donated by the grandson of a popular Washington County doctor of yesteryear, Dr. Peter Fahrney, a man of German descent.

Malcolm A. Long of Baltimore is president of the board of trustees.

The 57 churches in central and eastern Maryland and the District of Columbia that support the home appoint members to its board.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12 (INS) — One of the senations of Las Vegas is Johnny Desmond, who is appearing at the Desert Inn. He told me that he is going to star in "Prisoner of Love," the life story of Russ Colombo, for Maurice Duke.

"We will work at the Goldwyn Studios," Johnny said, "and I can't tell you how excited I am about making a picture."

"I'd never met Johnny, who introduced Jimmy McHugh's song, "Louella," on the Don McNeil Breakfast Club in Chicago. But several girls I know did a rave about him, and I admit the boy certainly has a personality and a fine voice.

When Ty Power goes to Italy next year to star in "Lorenzo, the Magnificent," Linda Christian will go along to make a picture. She will star in a story based on the painting of the Mona Lisa, which will be filmed by Ty for his independent company.

I must say Linda never looked better. She has managed to keep her figure as slender as it was before she had her children.

Jon Hall's multimillionaire uncle, Emile Martin, owns Tahiti's electric power and telephone companies — so Jon can expect plenty of cooperation when he goes there early in January to film "Storm Over Tahiti."

Hurricanes have been good to Jon. He got his lift to stardom in a feature called "Hurricane" and he's starred in a couple of others with typhoons, etc., in the titles.

Jon's mother was born in Tahiti and his grandmother was honorary queen of the island for many years.

A voice from the past, indeed, was that of Viola Dana, who telephoned me to tell me that she had just been on TV with Jack Owens.

"I haven't done anything for 20 years, and it was so heartwarming and wonderful to see the affection with which all the middle-aged people in the audience greeted me," said Viola.

"I wanted to tell them all how touched I am, and you know, to us old-timers, your column is always the bible of the industry."

So many people do remember the old-time favorites and I think it's a wonderful idea for the fans to get a chance to see them. I hope we'll be seeing more of them.

Talked to Constance Talmadge, who is in town visiting her sister, Natalie. Connie said her husband, Walter Giblin, had to take a trip to Europe, so she decided to come to Hollywood.

Elaine Stewart, back with Johnny Grant at Ciro's. Johnny will be leaving soon for Korea.

Mrs. Charles Marshall, who married Vincent Astor, denied to the end that they had matrimonial plans. Marshall's first wife was the sister of Helen Astor Hull, Vincent Astor's first wife.

Perry Lieber spent the weekend in Tucson, Arizona. His son is in school there and they had a father's day. Perry wouldn't have missed it.

Mark Stevens has returned to New York for his TV show, "Martin Kane." He's done a really fine job in "Slade," an Allied Artists picture.

From Poll To Poll

Back in 1929 I voted wet 36 times in as many states. When the judge asked me how I could be that unethical I told him I had a bicycle.

Information at the grass-roots level isn't any more nutritious than statistics on a hay-wagon. Your farmer believes in the law of supply and demand. Let the white-collar man shoot his own cuffs.

If the farmer has the supply he's going to demand plenty. And while the city voter is trying to make both ends closer the weed-bender is farming the highway to California and Florida.

A door-to-door canvass of the urban pueblos starts off fine when a lady answers the buzz and the opinion merchant asks, "Does anybody live here?"

He's going to get his hat tipped with a door slam. Suppose you filter your quiz through a venetian blind and a toothless accent quavers, "The trouble with my take-home pay is I got to stay there."

He means that walk-about money has sore feet. Corn is pegged at $1.60 a bushel. But you can get more in gallon silos.

Masquerade Party Scheduled Thursday

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Whenever you hear someone proudly state, "I don't believe in tact. I believe in telling the truth," it's time to be on your guard. There's one thing sure—you are in danger of being hurt.

I always wonder how these self-appointed spreaders of "the truth" can be so sure of what the truth really is. If they would stop to consider their words more carefully and weigh their statements more accurately, would they actually find it imperative to say something cutting or unpleasant? And are they equally untactful and cold in dealing out facts concerning themselves? Rarely so, according to my observations.

No Bluntness Wanted

We all have a choice in what we say. With just a little thought or consideration, it is possible to keep our conversation in channels that are welcome to our listeners' ears. Even in speaking of unpleasant matters, the use of tact can preclude any real offense.

Tact should never be confused with false flattery. But to seek something on which to compliment another is an entirely different matter. Very rarely does one find himself in a situation that is all bad—or with a person who has no mitigating qualities.

I have never known a popular or eminently successful person who did not strive to use tact. In the art of getting along with others, tact is a most useful talent. It is an expression of love and concern for the happiness and welfare of others and those who like people as a whole with a warm out-giving nature exercise tact instinctively all through their lives.

If you wish to increase your tact, you can. It is a generous and most rewarding goal. Not only will you make others happier, but in so doing, you will increase your enjoyment every day.

Your Daily Record

Here's one way to go about it. See how many compliments you can honestly and sincerely pay each day. Don't be satisfied with just the obvious. Sharpen your eyes, sharpen your ears, deepen your understanding of others and seek to make your compliments real expressions of approbation, respect and regard.

Keep a daily tally of your success in bolstering the confidence of others. If you will do this consciously for just one month, you will find it so pleasant a hobby that you'll make it your way of life always. And what a lovely person you will be to count as a friend!

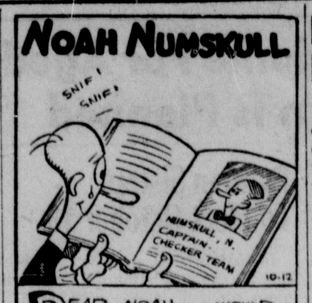

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy write to Secrets of Charm, in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

The hamburger is not a specialty of restaurants in Hamburg, Germany. It was invented by south Germans waiting in the port for ships to America. Although the dish was named in honor of the city, it was not popularized until it emigrated to the United States.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12 (INS) — One of the senations of Las Vegas is Johnny Desmond, who is appearing at the Desert Inn. He told me that he is going to star in "Prisoner of Love," the life story of Russ Colombo, for Maurice Duke.

"We will work at the Goldwyn Studios," Johnny said, "and I can't tell you how excited I am about making a picture."

"I'd never met Johnny, who introduced Jimmy McHugh's song, "Louella," on the Don McNeil Breakfast Club in Chicago. But several girls I know did a rave about him, and I admit the boy certainly has a personality and a fine voice.

When Ty Power goes to Italy next year to star in "Lorenzo, the Magnificent," Linda Christian will go along to make a picture. She will star in a story based on the painting of the Mona Lisa, which will be filmed by Ty for his independent company.

Linda will probably leave her two babies with her mother, who has a little boy of her own about five years olds.

I must say Linda never looked better. She has managed to keep her figure as slender as it was before she had her children.

Jon Hall's multimillionaire uncle, Emile Martin, owns Tahiti's electric power and telephone companies — so Jon can expect plenty of cooperation when he goes there early in January to film "Storm Over Tahiti."

Hurricanes have been good to Jon. He got his lift to stardom in a feature called "Hurricane" and he's starred in a couple of others with typhoons, etc., in the titles.

Jon's mother was born in Tahiti and his grandmother was honorary queen of the island for many years.

A voice from the past, indeed, was that of Viola Dana, who telephoned me to tell me that she had just been on TV with Jack Owens.

"I haven't done anything for 20 years, and it was so heartwarming and wonderful to see the affection with which all the middle-aged people in the audience greeted me," said Viola.

"I wanted to tell them all how touched I am, and you know, to us old-timers, your column is always the bible of the industry."

So many people do remember the old-time favorites and I think it's a wonderful idea for the fans to get a chance to see them. I hope we'll be seeing more of them.

Talked to Constance Talmadge, who is in town visiting her sister, Natalie. Connie said her husband, Walter Giblin, had to take a trip to Europe, so she decided to come to Hollywood.

Bob Hope sent me a cute postcard from Spain of a lady toreador in a real silk knitted outfit.

Elaine Stewart, back with Johnny Grant at Ciro's. Johnny will be leaving soon for Korea.

June Allyson will probably help President Eisenhower balance the budget, as her first independent picture will make her half a million dollars.

Mrs. Charles Marshall, who married Vincent Astor, denied to the end that they had matrimonial plans. Marshall's first wife was the sister of Helen Astor Hull, Vincent Astor's first wife.

Perry Lieber spent the weekend in Tucson, Arizona. His son is in school there and they had a father's day. Perry wouldn't have missed it.

Mark Stevens has returned to New York for his TV show, "Martin Kane." He's done a really fine job in "Slade," an Allied Artists picture.

Shelley Winters brought in a full house at top's in San Diego, where she tried out her act there Friday night.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

From Poll To Poll

Most of these nation-wide polls prove there's many a slip between the cupped ear and the lip.

Back in 1929 I voted wet 36 times in as many states. When the judge asked me how I could be that unethical I told him I had a bicycle.

Information at the grass-roots level isn't any more nutritious than statistics on a hay-wagon. Your farmer believes in the law of supply and demand. Let the white-collar man shoot his own cuffs.

If the farmer has the supply he's going to demand plenty. And while the city voter is trying to make both ends closer the weed-bender is farming the highway to California and Florida.

A door-to-door canvass of the urban pueblos starts off fine when a lady answers the buzz and the opinion merchant asks, "Does anybody live here?"

He's going to get his hat tipped with a door slam. Suppose you filter your quiz through a venetian blind and a toothless accent quavers, "The trouble with my take-home pay is I got to stay there."

He means that walk-about money has sore feet. Corn is pegged at $1.60 a bushel. But you can get more in gallon silos.

Masquerade Party Scheduled Thursday

LONACONING — A Halloween masquerade party will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. by the Young Adults Group at the Firs Methodist Church and all members are expected to attend the costumed party.

Awards will be given for the best masqueraders and there will be surprise numbers on the entertainment program. The committee in charge is Mr. and Mrs. Jack Getty, Mrs. George Walbert, Mrs. Charleton Dodds, Mrs. Doris Struck and Mrs. Sara B. Schramm. A short business meeting will be held.

Do you believe in telling only the bitter truth? Tact lies in seeking out the better truth!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Whenever you hear someone proudly state, "I don't believe in tact. I believe in telling the truth," it's time to be on your guard. There's one thing sure—you are in danger of being hurt.

I always wonder how these self-appointed spreaders of "the truth" can be so sure of what the truth really is. If they would stop to consider their words more carefully and weigh their statements more accurately, would they actually find it imperative to say something cutting or unpleasant? And are they equally untactful and cold in dealing out facts concerning themselves? Rarely so, according to my observations.

No Bluntness Wanted

We all have a choice in what we say. With just a little thought or consideration, it is possible to keep our conversation in channels that are welcome to our listeners' ears. Even in speaking of unpleasant matters, the use of tact can preclude any real offense.

Tact should never be confused with false flattery. But to seek something on which to compliment another is an entirely different matter. Very rarely does one find himself in a situation that is all bad—or with a person who has no mitigating qualities.

I have never known a popular or eminently successful person who did not strive to use tact. In the art of getting along with others, tact is a most useful talent. It is an expression of love and concern for the happiness and welfare of others and those who like people as a whole with a warm out-giving nature exercise tact instinctively all through their lives.

If you wish to increase your tact, you can. It is a generous and most rewarding goal. Not only will you make others happier, but in so doing, you will increase your enjoyment every day.

Your Daily Record

Here's one way to go about it. See how many compliments you can honestly and sincerely pay each day. Don't be satisfied with just the obvious. Sharpen your eyes, sharpen your ears, deepen your understanding of others and seek to make your compliments real expressions of approbation, respect and regard.

Keep a daily tally of your success in bolstering the confidence of others. If you will do this consciously for just one month, you will find it so pleasant a hobby that you'll make it your way of life always. And what a lovely person you will be to count as a friend!

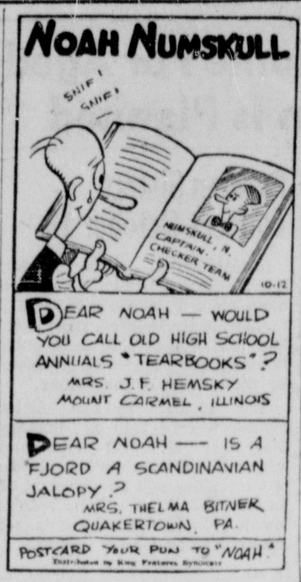

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy write to Secrets of Charm, in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — People, places and things . . .

Alan Villiers, world's greatest authority on sailing ships, and a man who talks in a voice fitted to cut through a howling nor'easter, spoke to the Circumnavigators Club at Leone's the other day — and spoke of his friends Christopher Columbus and Henry the Navigator.

Villiers held the crowd of world travelers spellbound as he reproduced for us the lives and times of the great explorer and of the man—Henry whose studies of navigation made the voyages of the 15th century possible.

He pictured the Moors as the Communists of the time, perpetually threatening to over-run Christian civilization. And he said that the one great monopoly of the world, trade with the Indies, was under their control. To break it, and in doing so to build ships that could weather the Atlantic, became the special passion of Prince Henry. From the ends of the then known world he assembled the finest mathematicians, and in a Portuguese cloister they plotted the stars and winds and, in time, sent forth their champions.

Villiers called Columbus an frascible, head-strong man who a single determination, to find a non-Moorish route to India or to a land that could be instantly exploited. Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland were known to these people and discarded as not readily given to yielding profit. Columbus worked 15 years on his dream before he set sail.

Villiers traced his course across the Atlantic as if we are aboard, not 461 years removed in time and space and at the end he boomed:

"The fellow made an 'orrible' blunder by calling the people of desolate Watling's Island and the other little places he touched at, Injuns. But, all in all, he did well. If it were not for old Chris this great country would not have come into being, I wouldn't be here in your pleasant company, nor would I have just consumed this magnificent grub."

The U. S. and Britain have had their differences of late, but it is plain they agree on one joint enterprise — Bob Hope, born there, reared here.

"We have many people and many forces today who are trying hard to break up the friendship between the British and American peoples," said R. J. Cruikshank in introducing Hope at a Variety Club of Great Britain luncheon in London. "I believe that if they succeeded the whole of our precariously-poised civilization would collapse in chaos and anarchy. That solid keystone is what keeps the delicate arch in place.

"I haven't the vaguest idea whether Mr. Hope is a Republican or a Democrat, and I don't propose to ask him. All I know is that he is one of the big, generous, unifying forces between the Americans and the British, a man who unites, not divides. Such, I would say most earnestly, belong to the salt of the earth in these troubled times. . . . There is no need to try to be funny about Mr. Hope. He can do that for himself much better than we can. But I submit we ought to think of him quite seriously for a minute as a real contributor to Anglo-American friendship. His health!"

The new Collier's World Atlas and Gazetteer, out today, has some eye-raisers: Bruges, Belgium, has less people now than it did in the 1300s. In the 1600s the biggest city in the Western Hemisphere was Potosi, Bolivia. Chicago is the world's largest city which has never been either the capital or the chief economic center of a country.

CUE BIDDING IMPORTANT

WHETHER or not your side is equipped with a device like the Blackwood convention, cue-bidding can still be important. This is especially the case if you have a void suit and the opponents have crowded you with interference bids so that you haven't time to cue-bid the blank first and then use the 4-No Trumps to ask about tops in the other three suits. Your own showing of one ace then, followed by your partner's similar action, may lead to disclosing whether or not there is a small or grand slam in the cards.

	♠ 6 2 ♥ A 8 7 5 4 ♦ A 10 6 ♣ 10 5 3
♠ A K Q 10 9 7 5 ♥ 2 ♦ 8 4 3 ♣ 9 6	N W E S	♠ J 8 4 3 ♥ 9 6 ♦ K Q J 7 ♣ J 8 2
	♠ None ♥ K Q J 10 3 ♦ 9 5 2 ♣ A K Q 7 4

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1. Pass	1 ♥	3 ♠	4 ♥
4 ♠	5 ♥
2. Pass	1 ♥	3 ♠	4 ♥
4 ♠	5 ♣	Pass	5 ♦
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	7 ♥

The first bidding sequence is what developed on this deal. South later gave an explanation of his 5-Hearts as an invitation to North to bid slam if his hand was any better than his first crowded call indicated. It wasn't, so North passed, and a grand slam was lost as South discarded both of the dummy's low diamonds on clubs.

North then asked South why he hadn't made some more specific move toward slam. South explained that Blackwood could have done him no good, since North's reply might take into account spade tops, which would be worthless, and there was no room to cue-bid spades and then use 4-No Trumps to ask about controls in the other suits.

Then North explained how possession of the Blackwood convention in your kit of tools did not necessarily prevent you from using cue-bids. Over East's 4-Spades, he said, South should have cue-bid 5-Clubs. North then could have signed off with 5-Hearts if not possessing the diamond topper. Holding it, however, he would have bid 5-Diamonds. Ready then for small slam, South should have cue-bid 5-Spades. That would have been a command to North to sign off at 6-Hearts if not holding the heart A. With that A, he should have bid 7-Hearts. South's mighty bidding would have told North he held all the strength necessary for small or grand slam, dependent on North's tops.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 10 8 5 ♥ 10 ♦ A K 10 6 3 ♣ 8 6 3 2
♠ J 9 3 ♥ Q 9 6 5 ♦ 2 ♣ 9 5 3	N W E S	♠ Q 6 4 2 ♥ A K 7 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K 9 5
	♠ A K 7 ♥ J 8 4 3 ♦ Q J 8 ♣ A Q J

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

If West is known as a liker of short-suit leads against No Trump games, what should North bid after South's 1-No Trump?

NEW YORK (INS) — People, places and things . . .

Alan Villiers, world's greatest authority on sailing ships, and a man who talks in a voice fitted to cut through a howling nor'easter, spoke to the Circumnavigators Club at Leone's the other day — and spoke of his friends Christopher Columbus and Henry the Navigator.

Villiers held the crowd of world travelers spellbound as he reproduced for us the lives and times of the great explorer and of the man—Henry whose studies of navigation made the voyages of the 15th century possible.

He pictured the Moors as the Communists of the time, perpetually threatening to over-run Christian civilization. And he said that the one great monopoly of the world, trade with the Indies, was under their control. To break it, and in doing so to build ships that could weather the Atlantic, became the special passion of Prince Henry. From the ends of the then known world he assembled the finest mathematicians, and in a Portuguese cloister they plotted the stars and winds and, in time, sent forth their champions.

Villiers called Columbus an irascible, head-strong man who a single determination, to find a non-Moorish route to India or to a land that could be instantly exploited. Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland were known to these people and discarded as not readily given to yielding profit. Columbus worked 15 years on his dream before he set sail.

Villiers traced his course across the Atlantic as if we are aboard, not 461 years removed in time and space and at the end he boomed:

"The fellow made an 'orrible' blunder by calling the people of desolate Watling's Island and the other little places he touched at, Injuns. But, all in all, he did well. If it were not for old Chris this great country would not have come into being, I wouldn't be here in your pleasant company, nor would I have just consumed this magnificent grub."

The U. S. and Britain have had their differences of late, but it is plain they agree on one joint enterprise — Bob Hope, born there, reared here.

"We have many people and many forces today who are trying hard to break up the friendship between the British and American peoples," said R. J. Cruikshank in introducing Hope at a Variety Club of Great Britain luncheon in London. "I believe that if they succeeded the whole of our precariously-poised civilization would collapse in chaos and anarchy. That solid keystone is what keeps the delicate arch in place.

"I haven't the vaguest idea whether Mr. Hope is a Republican or a Democrat, and I don't propose to ask him. All I know is that he is one of the big, generous, unifying forces between the Americans and the British, a man who unites, not divides. Such, I would say most earnestly, belong to the salt of the earth in these troubled times. . . . There is no need to try to be funny about Mr. Hope. He can do that for himself much better than we can. But I submit we ought to think of him quite seriously for a minute as a real contributor to Anglo-American friendship. His health!"

The new Collier's World Atlas and Gazetteer, out today, has some eye-raisers: Bruges, Belgium, has less people now than it did in the 1300s. In the 1600s the biggest city in the Western Hemisphere was Potosi, Bolivia. Chicago is the world's largest city which has never been either the capital or the chief economic center of a country.

WHETHER or not your side is equipped with a device like the Blackwood convention, cue-bidding can still be important. This is especially the case if you have a void suit and the opponents have crowded you with interference bids so that you haven't time to cue-bid the blank first and then use the 4-No Trumps to ask about tops in the other three suits. Your own showing of one ace then, followed by your partner's similar action, may lead to disclosing whether or not there is a small or grand slam in the cards.

	♠ 6 2 ♥ A 8 7 5 4 ♦ A 10 6 ♣ 10 5 3
♠ A K Q 10 9 7 5 ♥ 2 ♦ 8 4 3 ♣ 9 6	N W E S	♠ J 8 4 3 ♥ 9 6 ♦ K Q J 7 ♣ J 8 2
	♠ None ♥ K Q J 10 3 ♦ 9 5 2 ♣ A K Q 7 4

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1. Pass	1 ♥	3 ♠	4 ♥
4 ♠	5 ♥
2. Pass	1 ♥	3 ♠	4 ♥
4 ♠	5 ♣	Pass	5 ♦
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	7 ♥

The first bidding sequence is what developed on this deal. South later gave an explanation of his 5-Hearts as an invitation to North to bid slam if his hand was any better than his first crowded call indicated. It wasn't, so North passed, and a grand slam was lost as South discarded both of the dummy's low diamonds on clubs.

North then asked South why he hadn't made some more specific move toward slam. South explained that Blackwood could have done him no good, since North's reply might take into account spade tops, which would be worthless, and there was no room to cue-bid spades and then use 4-No Trumps to ask about controls in the other suits.

Then North explained how possession of the Blackwood convention in your kit of tools did not necessarily prevent you from using cue-bids. Over East's 4-Spades, he said, South should have cue-bid 5-Clubs. North then could have signed off with 5-Hearts if not possessing the diamond topper. Holding it, however, he would have bid 5-Diamonds. Ready then for small slam, South should have cue-bid 5-Spades. That would have been a command to North to sign off at 6-Hearts if not holding the heart A. With that A, he should have bid 7-Hearts. South's mighty bidding would have told North he held all the strength necessary for small or grand slam, dependent on North's tops.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 10 8 5 ♥ 10 ♦ A K 10 6 3 ♣ 8 6 3 2
♠ J 9 3 ♥ Q 9 6 5 ♦ 2 ♣ 9 5 ♣ 10 7 4	N W E S	♠ Q 6 4 ♥ 2 ♦ A K 7 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K 9 5
	♠ A K 7 ♥ J 8 4 3 ♦ Q J 8 ♣ A Q J

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

City Receives Valley Street Bridge Plans

Span To Be Discussed With Army Engineers

The City of Cumberland has received the final specifications and plans for the Valley Street Bridge, one of three spans across Wills Creek which are to be replaced as flood protection work progresses

The plans have been turned over to the city by the J. E. Greiner Company, Baltimore, according to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner.

Officials said reinforcing schedules have not been completely checked and that minor revisions in the plans may have to be made after that work is completed.

Conference Planned

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday the plans will be discussed with officials of the Corps of Engineers, who will be in Cumberland October 20 and 21 to review remaining flood control problems with city officials.

During future Wills Creek channel improvement, city bridges at Valley, Market and Baltimore streets must be replaced, and the Western Maryland Railway must build a new span at Baltimore Street.

R. A. Gilmore, engineer for the Greiner firm, pointed out that the bridge plans did not include details on letting the contract or on the number of working days for the work.

These points, he added, can best be established at a conference with city officials.

Will Time Project

He added that in the near future, the firm will be able to give estimates of the cost of the span, based on present construction trends.

Current estimates of the cost of the three bridges is about $600,000 —to be paid from funds advanced by the city and county as the local costs of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

The Greiner firm, designers of the Bay Bridge, will also advise the city on the timing of the bridge job, so that the span will be out of service for a minimum time.

Scouts To Begin CD Emergency Service Courses

Emergency service training courses for Explorers and Scouters of Potomac Council will get underway tomorrow evening at the City Hall auditorium.

Registration for classes will begin tomorrow at 7 p. m. at City Hall. Also tomorrow night, William G. Barger, county Civil Defense director, will present a demonstration on Civil Defense.

Fern E. Kenny, chairman of camping activities, said training includes 11 weeks of instruction, a 22-hour course of Red Cross first aid training and a four-hour Civil Defense first aid course.

The course is open to all Explorers and Scouters over 14 years of age, and to any individual who wishes to take the training. Classes will be held every Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the City Hall auditorium.

After the Scouters complete their training, they will be given an opportunity to earn the Emergency Service Award which is equivalent to a Life Scout rating. Later the boys will be mobilized into an emergency service unit by William Allee, neighborhood commissioner for the Cumberland District.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Kenney at his home, 518 Bedford Street, or calling him at 3942-J.

Dr. Harold B. Plummer of Preston, president, said the academy expects approximately 500 physicians, all general practitioners, from Maryland and adjacent states to attend the full day program of lectures and discussion aimed at keeping the family doctor abreast of latest developments in medicine, surgery, obstetrics and endocrinology.

The state's "General Practitioner of the Year" will be named at the session which will conclude with a banquet at 7 p. m.

Brush Fire Checked

Firemen from South End extinguished an early morning brush fire yesterday in the rear of Memorial Hospital between Greenway and Ridgewood avenues. There was no damage in the fire at 4:24 a. m.

Forest Fire Jumps River

As dusk deepens the shadows along the Youghiogheny River in Garrett County near Oakland, a blazing fire which destroyed approximately 160 acres of woodlands before being brought under control, jumps the 150-foot wide river at the foot of Shaffer Hill early Sunday evening. Nearly 50 fire fighters from the district forester's office, volunteer fire companies and National Guard battled the blaze for two days before bringing it under control about a mile west of Oakland.

Fighters Pour 30,000 Gallons Of Water On Garrett Woodlands

Volunteer fighters and district forestry personnel poured nearly 30,000 gallons of water from the Big and Little Youghiogheny rivers yesterday on smouldering timberland bringing an end to the worst forest fire in Garrett County this year.

The blaze, which flared into a raging holocaust Saturday, was brought under control and then flared anew Sunday, jumping the 150-foot wide Youghiogheny River and threatening Oakland.

Only smouldering and smoking stumps and snags remained last evening under the watchful eye of 10 forestry guards after some 50 men from the National Guard, fire companies from both Oakland and Deer Park and Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crewmen completed mopping-up operations yesterday. Over 200 fighters were in the woods at one time battling the blazing inferno for over two days before it was brought under control.

District Forester William H. Johnson said last night the fire fighting crew used two portable pumps and approximately 4,000 feet of hose to wet down the fire line area yesterday. Everything within 50 feet of the 24-inch fire line, built by a State Department of Forest and Parks tractor and fire plow, was soaked, Johnson explained. The fire was halted about a mile west of Oakland.

With Western Maryland's most disastrous forest fire this year halted, Johnson still voiced a warning that the timberland is still very dry as no helpful rain has been forthcoming for the past 30 days. High winds would make for a very critical situation, he continued.

Another, smaller blaze broke out in the 1,000-acre tract near Deep Creek yesterday but was brought quickly under control by Forest Guards Merrill Wilt and Charles Thomas after nearly a half acre was burned.

ENTERS NOVITIATE — Guy Dale Shaffer of Cumberland recently entered St. Teresa's Novitiate of the Franciscan Missionary Brothers of the Sacred Heart of Jesus at Eureka, Mo. He received the religious name of Brother Justin when he was received into the order at a solemn high mass. Attending the ceremony were his sisters, Mrs. Georgia DeArcangelis and children, of Cumberland, and Mrs. Shirley West of Hayte, Mo. A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shaffer, Brother Justin attended St. Patrick's Parochial School here.

Wheeler Talk Will Explain Sizzle Idea

To Speak Thursday At Fort Hill School

The world will give you anything you want—if you know the right word.

Elmer Wheeler says so. He knows words. He has tested them on thousands of persons.

Wheeler is a specialist on words that "sizzle." In the game of life, he says, the winners know how to "sizzle," the losers just fizzle.

That's the idea behind his slogan, "Don't sell the steak—sell the sizzle." Wheeler will explain his idea in his talk Thursday night at Fort Hill High School, sponsored by the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. Doors will open at 7 p. m.

Tickets for the talk are available at the Chamber of Commerce offices or at S. T. Little Jewelry Company.

Wheeler's basic philosophy is that in any situation where you want to get another person to do what you want done, there is a hidden sizzle. And in every personality there is a sizzle.

It's simple.

The next time you want to persuade someone to your way of thinking, advises Wheeler, look for the hidden sizzle in the situation.

In his talk Thursday night, Wheeler will point out how to find the sizzle and will explain some of his "tested" words and phrases that put the sizzle over.

County Safety Week Is Opened With Banquet

Clyde R. Powell Gives Lecture On Accidents

Ninety-nine per cent of all accidents, regardless of their nature, are the result of two reasons, failure to look ahead and the assumption by an individual that he knows more than he actually does.

This was a reminder given last night by Clyde R. Powell, public relations director of Endicott Johnson Shoe Corporation, during the dinner meeting at Central YMCA which opened Safety Week in Allegany County.

Illustrates With Magic

Theme of Powell's talk, illustrated with feats of magic, was "Don't Bet Your Life." He pointed out that a split-second of thoughtlessness can result in a serious accident with the victim given the rest of his life to think over his mistake.

Invocation for the dinner was given by Brother G. Nicholas, of LaSalle High School faculty. John J. Long, police and fire commissioner and safety director of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, was toastmaster.

Prior to the introduction of the guest speaker, Long commented on the necessity and value of safety and commended the various committees for their work in the preparation for Safety Week.

Sitting at the speaker's table were Fred Hoppes, district representative of the Lehigh Safety Shoe Company; Joseph A. Haller, director of safety for Maryland; Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission; Mayor Roy W. Eves, William J. Edwards, water commissioner; and Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

Representatives Attend

Attending the meeting were safety representatives of Allegany County, public utilities, railroads, industries, and other organizations, including service clubs.

Powell kept the interest of his audience through sleight of hand tricks and was able to sway their emotions from a humorous to serious side.

Included in his discussion was the value of safety shoes by laborers in factories and mills and the mine. He pointed out that without them a worker can lose his toes or foot and hobble through life due to failure to look ahead .

Powell said an auto with a mashed fender can be repaired and repainted but the human body cannot grow another limb lost in an accident.

He reminded his audience that industry might have to maintain quality and production but that an accident is most costly. A simple mishap can make both quality and production go haywire. Thus the worker must be on guard at all times to prevent such costly errors.

Posters, Pamphlets Used

Pamphlets on highway accidents and statistics on death and injuries as well as other safety data were passed out to those in attendance. Book matches with the inscription "Close The Book on Accidents," were also distributed.

Posters illustrating the necessity of safety in everyday life were placed along the walls of the room reminding those in attendance to be ever ready for the accident that can be prevented through caution.

The Western Maryland Safety Council is directing the fifth annual Allegany County Safety Week Program which is sponsored by the State Industrial Accident Commission and Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

Chairman for last night's dinner was Miles G. Thompson Jr., and the meal was prepared and served by the Ladies Auxiliary of Central YMCA.

Powell gave two assembly program at Allegany High School yesterday afternoon. Raymond O. McCullough, principal, said the programs "were well given and well received. The magic performed, stressed clearly problems of safety in our everyday life."

Lectures at Fort Hill

Today, Powell will give another safety assembly program at Fort Hill beginning at 9:45 a. m. Mem-

Rubber Paving Material May Be Tested In City

Mrs. Roeder Reports On Study Of Plan

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner, and Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, have discussed the plan and both wish to have such a test made during the present fiscal year.

Mixing rubber with asphalt for road building is not a recent idea, Mrs. Roeder said. The first patent for including latex in a bitumen emulsion was issued in 1923.

Test sections of paving using a rubber asphalt emulsion as a binding agent were first laid in Singapore and Ceylon in 1929, in Malaya and England in 1930, the Netherlands in 1935, Canada and France in 1948 and the United States in 1949.

American highway engineers have been giving considerable attention to rubber asphalt paving experiments.

Experiments Underway

Natural rubber used in road construction, Mrs. Roeder said, is a creamy-colored rubber powder about the size of grains of sand. The powder is mixed with bitumen, the petroleum product used as a binding agent in asphalt roads.

The addition of natural rubber compound to bitumen changes the character of the compound, since the rubber particles swell up to double their original size as they absorb the lighter hydrocarbons in the bitumen.

Is Tested In State

Advantages of the rubber pavements, as indicated by existing tests, are an improved pavement, longer life, more elastic surface and the pavement is less brittle and requires less maintenance.

Mrs. Roeder said tests of rubber pavements in Maryland include the 1950 resurfacing of old sheet asphalt pavement on Falls Road at the intersection of Belvedere Avenue in Baltimore; natural rubber asphalt used in 1951 on U. S. Route 111, north of Towson, and the use of rubber mixed with blacktop to correct a creeping condition on Potomac Street in Hagerstown.

Rubber compounds may get large scale tests in the near future as highway engineers speed the construction of heavy-duty highways to carry the some 52,000,000 motor vehicles which used the highways in the United States last year.

Wheeler Talk Will Explain Sizzle Idea

To Speak Thursday At Fort Hill School

The world will give you anything you want—if you know the right word.

Elmer Wheeler says so. He knows words. He has tested them on thousands of persons.

Wheeler is a specialist on words that "sizzle." In the game of life, he says, the winners know how to "sizzle," the losers just fizzle.

That's the idea behind his slogan, "Don't sell the steak—sell the sizzle." Wheeler will explain his idea in his talk Thursday night at Fort Hill High School, sponsored by the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. Doors will open at 7 p. m.

Tickets for the talk are available at the Chamber of Commerce offices or at S. T. Little Jewelry Company.

Wheeler's basic philosophy is that in any situation where you want to get another person to do what you want done, there is a hidden sizzle. And in every personality there is a sizzle.

When you learn to spot these sizzles, he says, you've learned the secret of putting yourself across in any situation. For example:

Ordinary salesmen sell washing machines, vacuum cleaners, automobiles; "Sizzlemen" also sell comfort, security, a feeling of importance, economy, leisure.

It's simple.

The next time you want to persuade someone to your way of thinking, advises Wheeler, look for the hidden sizzle in the situation.

In his talk Thursday night, Wheeler will point out how to find the sizzle and will explain some of his "tested" words and phrases that put the sizzle over.

County Safety Week Is Opened With Banquet

Ninety-nine per cent of all accidents, regardless of their nature, are the result of two reasons, failure to look ahead and the assumption by an individual that he knows more than he actually does.

This was a reminder given last night by Clyde R. Powell, public relations director of Endicott Johnson Shoe Corporation, during the dinner meeting at Central YMCA which opened Safety Week in Allegany County.

Illustrates With Magic

Theme of Powell's talk, illustrated with feats of magic, was "Don't Bet Your Life." He pointed out that a split-second of thoughtlessness can result in a serious accident with the victim given the rest of his life to think over his mistake.

Invocation for the dinner was given by Brother G. Nicholas, of LaSalle High School faculty. John J. Long, police and fire commissioner and safety director of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, was toastmaster.

Prior to the introduction of the guest speaker, Long commented on the necessity and value of safety and commended the various committees for their work in the preparation for Safety Week.

Sitting at the speaker's table were Fred Hoppes, district representative of the Lehigh Safety Shoe Company; Joseph A. Haller, director of safety for Maryland; Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission; Mayor Roy W. Eves, William J. Edwards, water commissioner; and Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

Representatives Attend

Attending the meeting were safety representatives of Allegany County, public utilities, railroads, industries, and other organizations, including service clubs.

Powell kept the interest of his audience through sleight of hand tricks and was able to sway their emotions from a humorous to serious side.

Included in his discussion was the value of safety shoes by laborers in factories and mills and the mine. He pointed out that without them a worker can lose his toes or foot and hobble through life due to failure to look ahead .

Powell said an auto with a mashed fender can be repaired and repainted but the human body cannot grow another limb lost in an accident.

He reminded his audience that industry might have to maintain quality and production but that an accident is most costly. A simple mishap can make both quality and production go haywire. Thus the worker must be on guard at all times to prevent such costly errors.

Posters, Pamphlets Used

Pamphlets on highway accidents and statistics on death and injuries as well as other safety data were passed out to those in attendance. Book matches with the inscription "Close The Book on Accidents," were also distributed.

Posters illustrating the necessity of safety in everyday life were placed along the walls of the room reminding those in attendance to be ever ready for the accident that can be prevented through caution.

The Western Maryland Safety Council is directing the fifth annual Allegany County Safety Week Program which is sponsored by the State Industrial Accident Commission and Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

Chairman for last night's dinner was Miles G. Thompson Jr., and the meal was prepared and served by the Ladies Auxiliary of Central YMCA.

Powell gave two assembly program at Allegany High School yesterday afternoon. Raymond O. McCullough, principal, said the programs "were well given and well received. The magic performed, stressed clearly problems of safety in our everyday life."

Lectures at Fort Hill

Today, Powell will give another safety assembly program at Fort Hill beginning at 9:45 a. m. Mem-

Rubber Paving Material May Be Tested In City

Mrs. Roeder Reports On Study Of Plan

The possibility of laying a test pavement using natural rubber powder is being studied by city officials.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner, and Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, have discussed the plan and both wish to have such a test made during the present fiscal year.

Mixing rubber with asphalt for road building is not a recent idea, Mrs. Roeder said. The first patent for including latex in a bitumen emulsion was issued in 1923.

Test sections of paving using a rubber asphalt emulsion as a binding agent were first laid in Singapore and Ceylon in 1929, in Malaya and England in 1930, the Netherlands in 1935, Canada and France in 1948 and the United States in 1949.

American highway engineers have been giving considerable attention to rubber asphalt paving experiments.

Experiments Underway

In addition to the use of natural rubber compounds, they have been experimenting with synthetic and reclaimed rubber powder, and with natural and synthetic latex.

Natural rubber used in road construction, Mrs. Roeder said, is a creamy-colored rubber powder about the size of grains of sand. The powder is mixed with bitumen, the petroleum product used as a binding agent in asphalt roads.

Is Tested In State

Adding the rubber compounds to asphalt mixture does not require changes in specifications or laying methods.

Advantages of the rubber pavements, as indicated by existing tests, are an improved pavement, longer life, more elastic surface and the pavement is less brittle and requires less maintenance.

Mrs. Roeder said tests of rubber pavements in Maryland include the 1950 resurfacing of old sheet asphalt pavement on Falls Road at the intersection of Belvedere Avenue in Baltimore; natural rubber asphalt used in 1951 on U. S. Route 111, north of Towson, and the use of rubber mixed with blacktop to correct a creeping condition on Potomac Street in Hagerstown.

Rubber compounds may get large scale tests in the near future as highway engineers speed the construction of heavy-duty highways to carry the some 52,000,000 motor vehicles which used the highways in the United States last year.
